House Votes To Send Aid To Russia

Modification Of Lease-Lend Bill Defeated

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—(AP)—The house refused today to specifically exclude Russia from aid under the $5,965,00,000 lend-lease appropriation.

By a standing vote of 162 to 21 the members defeated an amendment by Rep. Rich (R-Pa) to provide that no part of the fund would be used for the benefits of the Soviets.

Rich said he wanted something in the bill to prevent President Roosevelt from "transferring one cent" of the fund "to any nation which practices Communism."

Democratic speakers replied that while they too loathed Communism, Russia was opposing Hitler and Rep. Faddis (D-Pa) asserted:

Owe Debt of Gratitude

"Whether we like to admit it or not, we owe a debt of gratitude to Russia."

Sponsors of the appropriation have said repeatedly that present plans did not call for aid to Russia under the pending legislation.

The house earlier defeated a series of amendments starting with the rejection of an attempt to cut $100,000,000 from a $1,190,-000,000 fund for ordance, supplies and ammunition.

Vote 133 to 84

The standing vote was announced as 133 to 84.

Rep. Case (R-SD) who sponsored the reduction, argued that the $100,000,000 could be taken, if necessary, from another $1,000,-000,000 in the bill for "unforeseeable requirements."

Saying that the reduction would mean a month's production lost, Chairman Cannon (D-Mo.) of the appropriations committee asserted:

"It's impossible to predict 12 hours in advance what's going to happen. In 3 minutes a bomb may destroy a factory that's building supplies in Great Britain."

Then Rep. Engel (R-Mich) proposed a $60,000,000 cut in a $385,-000,000 item for tanks, armored cars, automobile and trucks, contending, like case, that that total could be reduced and, if necessary, the cut could be made up from the contingent fund.

But Engel's amendment also was cast aside, on a 135-83 standing vote.

In short order these amendments also were rejected:

By Rep. Rich (R-Pa) to cut $40,000,000 out of the $850,000,-000 category for ships and supplies on a 116 to 69 standing vote.

By Rep. Taber (-NY) to slash $300,000,000 from a $1,875,000,-000 fund for agricultural, industrial and other articles and commodities, on a 97 to 71 teller vote.

By Rep. Andersen (R-Minn) to provide that none of the money could be spent for sending tractors, on a teller vote of 137 to 95.

Report Man Jumped In Lake of Ozarks

WARSAW, Mo., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Officers searched today for the body of a man reported to have jumped or fallen from a suspension bridge into the swollen Lake of the Ozarks.

Mrs. Cora Chancellor who lives near the bridge told Sheriff Louis Miesner that she heard a loud splash yesterday and on investigation saw a man struggling in the water. She called Otto Heiman, a neighbor, who said he saw a man's head disappear in the water just as he reached the shore.

Defense Bond Quiz Corner

Q. Why is the Defense Savings Program truly national in scope?

A. Because it was devised to make possible participation by every individual—whether he buys one 10-cent Savings Stamp or a $10,000 Bond. Also it provides for enlistment in the Program of every business enterprise and every kind of organization, great and small, all combined in a mass patriotic movement to save for National Defense.

Q. How can an individual consumer help to prevent a rise in prices leading to an increased cost of living?

A He should avoid buying goods that are scarce, and manufactured in competition with products needed for defense, buying instead things that are plentiful. Also he should purchase Defense Savings Bonds and Stamps on a regular, systematic and continuing basis.

NOTE — To buy Defense Bonds and Stamps, go to the nearest post office, bank or savings and loan association; or write to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington D. C. Also Stamps are now on sale at most retail stores.

A. H. Wilks To Head Roll Call

Non-Defense Construction Must Be Cut

Materials Are Needed For Defense Projects

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Non-defense construction in the United States will have to be cut 60 per cent next year because critical materials must be allocated for military and naval needs, experts of the office of production management declared today.

They issued this forecast on civil building prospects quickly after the supply priorities and allocation board had prohibited the use of such vital materials as steel, copper, bronze, brass and aluminum on construction projects not deemed necessary to national defense or to public health and safety.

The volume of non-defense construction in 1942, they said, may not exceed $2,000,000,000, compared with an estimated $5,000,000,-000 this year.

Workers Will Be Hit

"Construction workers in many communities will be very hard hit," OPM said, "although those in other localities will benefit by the shift in activity. Building trades workers as a rule are more mobile than industrial or commercial workers."

Building construction of all kinds is expected to drop from $11,200,000,000 to about $8,500,-000,000, or about one-fourth. However, defense construction, now accounting for about 44 per cent of all building, is expected to rise more than 75 per cent.

Next Year's Figures

The OPM statisticians figured that next year the average employment on defense and non-defense construction work, including maintenance, repair and remodeling, would be about 2,100,-000, a dip of 22 per cent from the estimated average of 2,700,000 thus employed this year. But they said about 800,000 persons likely would be dropped from non-defense building work.

Other estimates of the unemployment expected to result from the SPAB restriction ran consosiderably higher, however. M. W. Watson, president of the Associated General Contractors of America, estimated that 1,500,000 would be thrown out of work on none-defense construction and that an additional 3,000,000 persons now producing marketing or shipping non-critical materials would be idle.

Rehabilitation For Draftees

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10—(AP)—A program with an immediate objective of rehabilitation of some 200,000 men rejected in the draft because of physical or mental deficiencies was announced today by President Roosevelt.

He told a press conference a question of building a stronger race of Americans in the days to come was involved.

The chief executive cited figures showing that 1,000,000 men had been rejected when examined for induction into the army under the selective service act. Of these he said 100,000 were turned down because they lacked the requirement of the equivalent of a fourth grade education. The remaining 900,000 rejected for various physical or mental defects, with dental ailments topping the list with 188,000 cases or 20.9 per cent of the total.

Of the 900,000, Mr. Roosevelt said, "about 200,000 can be completely rehabilitated and made available for general service in our armed forces."

Federal Funds For Nurses

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Six Missouri schools, five of them in St. Louis, were included in a list of 88 which the government announced today it had selected to receive funds for training student nurses.

Surgeon General Thomas Parran estimated there would be a need for 50,000 student nurses this year because of increased demand of the armed services and defense industries. The average yearly enrollment is about 40,000. Missouri schools included:

Homer G. Phillips School of Nursing, St. Louis County hospital, St. Louis University, Washington University, and Jewish hospital all of St. Louis, and St. Mary's hospital, Kansas City.

Searching For Fugitives From Algoa

Knifed Moberly Man Who Is In Critical Condition

HUNTSVILLE, Mo., Oct. 10—(AP)—More than a dozen officers who staged an all night search for two knife-wielding fugitives from the Algoa reformatory band clamped a tight watch on highways and railroads today but reported no definite progress in their hunt.

Ellis Halliburton, 30, Moberly, shoe clerk and son of a prominent Macon county farm family, lay in a critical condition in a Moberly hospital with a knife wound suffered in an altercation with the pair.

Use blood hounds

Algoa officials who brought bloodhounds to aid in the search said the pair who damaged at least five motor cars in their dodging flight were Edward Robins, 17, Poplar Bluff, serving a two-year term for forgery, and Stanley Willits, 18, Waynesville, serving five years for robbery.

Randolph county Sheriff Joe Klugmann said the Algoa bloodhounds picked up a trail during the night in the vicinity of a bridge on which a truck driver reported seeing two men believed to be the fugitives. After following the trail an hour the dogs gave up.

Canvassing Farm Houses

Officers canvassed farm houses in the sector — part woodland pasture and part cultivated land—west of Huntsville but had found no further trace of the youths.

There was no report this morning that any further cars were missing, indicating to officers that the youths still might be on foot in the area under surveillance.

Patrol Aiding in Search

Seven highway patrol cars, sheriffs of Monroe and Chariton counties and four Moberly policemen were aiding in the search.

The knife with which Halliburton was stabbed was found before morning. It was an Algoa table knife formed into a dagger Officers found a box of pistol cartridges in one car abandoned by the fugitives.

Playing in Band

The two fled from Madison where the Algoa band was to play a concert last night. They forced a woman from her car and sped west in it. They collided first with a car driven by Halliburton. He gave chase and overtook them at the point of a second collision.

There Halliburton was stabbed and the young men fled on foot. They reappared on the highway flagged down another car occu-

Court Withholds Clerk's Salary

A court order, withholding the money due William B. Rissler, county clerk, pending settlement of a suit now pending in the circuit court, was made this afternoon by the county court, which reads as follows:

"Whereas, the report of the state auditor filed in this court on the fifteenth of March, 1941, and July, 1941, shows that the county clerk of Pettis county, Missouri, William Bryan Rissler, is indebted to Pettis county, Missouri in the sum of $8,269.60, and

"Whereas, suit has been filed by the county court of Pettis county, Missouri, against the said clerk of the county court of Pettis county, Missouri, William Bryan Rissler,

"It is therefore ordered, adjudged and decreed that the said county court of Pettis county, Missouri hold any and all moneys due to the said William Bryan Rissler as salary from and after this date until said suit is finally settled.

"County Court of Pettis County, Missouri by Lon E. Leslie, presiding judge; George M. Lane, associate judge and J. K. Lacey, Jr., associate judge."

Mr. Rissler was out of the city when the suit was filed in the circuit court last week, but was served with the papers on his return Monday. He went to the office of the sheriff, accompanied by his attorney, and accepted service.

No Change In U. S. Relations

Government Is Considering Ship Arming Order

PANAMA, Oct. 10—(AP)—A coup d'etat government pledged to collaboration in continental defense is reconsidering an order Monday by ousted President Arnulfo Arias which barred the arming of merchant ships flying the Panama flag.

A cabinet member said last night that some decision on the question—which affects many United States-owned vessels shifted to Panama registry because of the neutrality act to carry war supplies to Britain—might be announced today.

Ricardo Adolfo De La Guardia, the new president sworn in late yesterday as the Republic's third chief executive in one eventful day after disclosure that Arias had flown to Cuba, issued a statement declaring his government "will be inspired by the most absolute sentiments of collaboration in defense of the continent, maintaining always national dignity and the greatest respect for contractual obligations with the government of the United States."

New President Commended

(On a lecture tour in Paducah, Ky., Dr. Ricardo Alfaro, former president of Panama, said the new president was an honest and uncompromising man and forecast improvement in Washington-Panama relations. He described the Arias presidency as "a product of imposition and dictatorship.")

De La Guardia, a man of pronounced pro-democratic leanings, was minister of justice in the cabinet of Arias, who was accused by political opponents here of Nazi leanings.

Several of Arias' followers were under precautionary arrest.

(In Havana Arias said he was surprised at the overthrow of his government; that he had flown to Cuba for eye treatments and was trying to telephone the new executive to learn whether he could return to "the country I love so much." He said, "I am not pro-Axis; I am pro-Panama.")

(Sources in Bogota, Columbia, reported that Arias, after a year

'Mercy Killing' Said To Be Advocated By Certain Nazis

BERLIN— (Correspondence of The Special News Service)—The spreading practice of "mercy killings," quietly advocated by certain Nazi quarters, has come into the spotlight in Germany.

An officially approved film,, "Ich Klage An," ("I Accuse") has made the question of killing mental defectives, invalids and the incurably sick, because they are "unproductive" under the Nazi concept, one of public debate.

At the same time the outspoken Bishop of Muenster, Count Clemens Auguest von Galen, has made an expose of Nazi "mercy deaths" and denounced the practice. Some months ago the Lutheran bishop, Theophil Wurm, of Wuerttemberg also attacked "mercy death" teaching in a letter addressed to Adolf Hitler.

Bishop Von Galen, who unhesitatingly speaks his mind and of late has even defied the Gestapo (secret police), warned that if the principle of "killing unproductive fellow creatures" is recognized, then even the lives of crippled war veterans and the aged aren't safe.

Insane Deliberately Killed

"I have been assured that in the ministry of the interior and in the office of the Reich's leader of physicians (health director) Dr. Leonardo Conti, no secret is made of the fact that a great number of insane in Germany already have been deliberately killed and in the future are to be killed," he declared as recently as August 3 in a sermon at St. Lambert's church, Muenster, Westphalia.

The film, which received widespread and extensive press notice, had its premiere in the presence of Dr. Conti. It is a story of a doctor and his young wife who is wracked by an incurable disease. Unable to find the means to check her illness, the doctor takes the life of his suffering wife with an overdose of poison upon learning she has only two months to live.

Arnold Tells Lawyers Of Price Bill

Greatest Problem Is To Watch Cost Of Necessities

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Assistant Attorney-General Thurman Arnold declared today the pyramiding of distribution costs by private groups in strategic positions was creating most of the price inflation in the necessities of life.

The bill before congress to control prices is a great counter-pressure, Arnold said, but he added even its advocates admit the difficulties of administration.

The most imperative problem is to prevent runaway prices upon such necessities as food, housing, clothing, fuel and medical supplies he said in proposing that the government confine its price control to the more necessary staples.

Tells of Restraint

"We can get rid of the unnecessary restraints of trade which interfere with the production and distribution of each such necessity and can thus reduce the problem of price control to a minimum size," he asserted in a speech at the convention of the Missouri Bar Association.

"It should then be possible to use the price fixing power effectively at least to guarantee to the vast mass of our population the necessities of life."

Employ Sherman Act

Arnold, head of the anti-trust division of the department of justice, said the full force of the Sherman act would be employed in the defense program to prevent any restriction of production by "some groups in labor and capital."

"There is no denying the fact that for ten months our defense effort has been hampered by the attitude of powerful private groups who fear the expansion of production because it may destroy their domination of industry after the war," he said.

"All of us should now be aware of the crippling effects of restraints on production exercised through the illegitimate use of power by some labor organization in order to maintain their position.

"We can not afford these impositions in this time of emergency."

Modernization of the state's antiquated code of criminal procedure was a major topic at today's session.

The association is expected to agree to sponsor on initiative proposal giving the supreme court power to make needed changes.

Officers will be elected tomorrow.

Younger members, seeking greater action in association affairs, yesterday formed a junior section for lawyers under 35 years of age. They elected John W. Oliver, Kansas City, chairman; H. L. C. Weier, Festus, vice chairman, and William B. Spaun, Hannibal, secretary.

Reports Heard That Armistice Is Considered

NEW YORK, Oct. 10—(AP)—Reports that Germany had offered an armistice to Russia circulated widely in Europe today.

A non-axis informant on the continent, a man with wide diplomatic connections whose information has proved highly reliable, said Russia was giving the terms, forwarded through Japan and Bulgaria, serious consideration, but this was denied by an authoritative Russian source in London.

"There is not a vestige of truth in the report," this London source said. "The Germans know we would not accept an armistice if it were offered."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10—(AP)—President Roosevelt, answering a press conference query, declared today he had no reports at all which would indicate that Russia had reached the point in her resistance to Germany where she might have to accept an armistice.

Asked whether he had any knowledge of how a letter in which he promised Premier Josef Stalin all possible American assistance had reached Berlin, Mr. Roosevelt said he had a hunch, but did not elaborate.

To an inquiry whether the matter was one of interest to the government, he replied in the affirmative but said it was not a matter of surprise.

He asserted, too, in response to another question, that he had no information that the letter had been broadcast to the Russian troops and that he believed this had not been done.

$13,400 In Stock Has Been Sold

The drive on the sale of $25,000 preferred stock in the Sedco Shoe Co., is continuing under the chairmanship of Ernest C. Martin, who hopes to wind it up by Saturday night. Up until 3 o'clock this afternoon 1,340 shares of stock had been sold representing $13,-400 of the $25,000 necessary.

Chairman Martin this afternoon said there were several captains who have not made any report on their districts, but he expects them to report not later than Saturday noon. "To me the real red blooded citizens of Sedalia should not have to be solicited for stock in the company. It is an indirect benefit to them if Sedalia obtains this shoe factory, and they should be willing to seek information regarding the stock and call upon the committee for assistance in having it explained to them. My committee will gladly send a representative to anyone interested in seeing the sale of the stock going over the top for the purpose of explaining it and to obtain their pledge.

"Those who desire to buy stock can pledge as little as one share or as much more as they want to buy," Mr. Martin said.

Headquarters for the campaign are at the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce office and the 'phone there is 896.

Germans Still Advancing Near Moscow

Some Trapped Red Units Make Way Out Of the 'Nut-Cracker'

By the Associated Press

Soviet front-line dispatches admitted today that Adolf Hitler's invasion armies were still advancing "over mountains of German corpses" in the Bryansk sector of the 9-day-old battle for Moscow, smashing through by sheer weight of numbers at several points.

Red Star, the Russian army newspaper, said the Germans were throwing immense forces into the new push after being routed earlier in the Bryansk sector, 220 miles southwest of Moscow.

As an example Red Star said two Nazi tank divisions and two motorized infantry divisions were hurled against a single Red army unit of undisclosed size, and that three German infantry divisions led by 100 tanks attacked another Soviet unit during a one-day battle.

Other Soviet dispatches, however, asserted that despite the renewed fury of the German onslaught Hitler's vast encirclement plan before Moscow had collapsed and that at least some of the trapped Red armies had battled their way out of the Nazi nutcracker.

Atmosphere More Confident

The atmosphere in Moscow itself, contrasting with yesterday's official acknowledgement of a grave emergency, was distinctly more confident.

The Soviet command was reported to have opened the floodgates of Russia's mighty manpower reserves, throwing masses of fresh troops into the bitter conflict.

A Red Army bulletin reported also that the Nazi offensive north of Orel, on the south wing of the German drive on Moscow, had been blocked.

Soviet front line dispatches said at least 15,600 German officers and soldiers had been killed in various "pocket" battles around Vyazma, 125 miles west of Moscow, and Bryansk, 220 miles south west of the Russian capital.

Line Extended Eastward

Against this suddenly brightening picture of the struggle drawn by the Russians, the German high command asserted that a 310-mile breach on the central front "has been extended further eastward" and that the ring of steel was biting deeper on trapped Red armies in the Vyazma and Bryansk sectors.

On the southern (Ukraine) front, Hitler's field headquarters said German troops were closing in on Red forces encircled along the Sea of Azov, in a drive apparently aimed at the Don river city of Rostov, gateway to the Caucasian oil fields.

Authoritative quarters in London confirmed that the Germans had captured Melitopol, Ossipenko (Berdyansk) and Mariupol along the north shore of the Azov sea, and said it was possible that a considerable pocket of Russian resistance existed west of those points — presumably cut off.

Scene of Heaviest Fighting

Significantly, the Soviet high command dropped all mention of Melitopol in its latest communique although earlier bulletins described it as a scene of the heaviest fighting.

While the Nazi press blared a victory chorus and Hitler's own newspaper proclaimed that seven short autumn days in the Moscow offensive had sufficed to "deliver the death blow to the most monstrous war machine of all times from which it will never recover," the Russians sounded a new note of optimism

Soviet dispatches said that the Red armies, reinforced by civilian fighters, had stopped the invaders from registering any major gains and that pockets of Russian troops snared in the great Vyanzma-

Russians Maintaining Equality

The Russians also indicated they were maintaining at least equality, if not superiority, in the air in the gigantic conflict, with wave after wave of Soviet dive bombers blasting incessantly at German armored and mechanized columns. In this connection, military observers recalled that it was the lack of air power that proved fatal to the allies in the Nazi blitzkrieg sweep through Holland, Belgium and France last year.

The first word in days from the siege-girt Black sea port of Odessa reported that German and allied forces were attempting to storm the city behind almost endless shelling, but that they had no success.

On the northern front, the Russians said Leningrad's defense armies were stubbornly pushing out against the German siege forces.

Fascists Losing Heavily

"Every kilometer had to be won by heavy fighting," dispatches from the old czarist capital said. "The Fascists are sustaining heavy losses and keep hurling fresh units into action."

The German high command reported tersely that "a renewed enemy attempt to break out with the aid of tanks west of Leningrad was repulsed."

Nazi dispatches said 18 troop-loaded Russian boats were sunk by German artillery when they attempted a landing on the Gulf of Finland coast, west of Leningrad.

The Germans declared that the gigantic armies of Russia could be virtually disregarded as a menace to the reich "even for a fortnight" in decades to come.

German newspapers hailed the latest victory claims of Adolf Hitler as the German armies pressed on with what highest German sources called the "last decisive battle of the year which shall crush the opponent before winter sets in."

Dismiss Charges Against Boys

CHESTER, Ill., Oct. 10—(AP)—At the request of State's Attorney David N. Conn, the circuit court has dismissed murder charges against two 12-year-old boys—Barney Byram and Matthew Voudrie—in the death of Harry Knoke, Jr. 11.

Conn filed a motion for dismissal late yesterday and Circuit Judge D. H. Mudge approved it. Conn then asked the county court to have the boys adjudged delinquent.

Said Conn:

"The problem of the best procedure to pursue has worried me and the procedure I am adopting in this case to me seems the only fair and just action that can be done."

The Knoke boy drowned in the Mississippi river front after a fight between the three along the Chester river front last June 24. At the time of the arrest of the pair Conn said they admitted pushing the third boy into the river after one held him while the other hit him on the head with a 12-inch file.

A Randolph county grand jury on Sept. 22 indicted the two. They were released on bond and have been attending school.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 10.—(AP)—The rider of a horse, which collided with a motor car, was sued today for $10,000 on the allegation she was riding "at a fast and dangerous rate of speed."

Mrs. Louis Hutton of Louisburg, Kas., who is in a hospital, brought the suit in the Jackson county circuit court against Miss Ruth Jicha. Both Mrs. Hutton and Miss Jicha are in hospitals. The horse was injured fatally in the accident which occurred Sept. 13.

Another suit, for $7,000, also was filed against Miss Jicha by George W. Mills, of Merriam, Kas, owner of the horse. He asked $2,000 actual damages and $5,000 punitive damages.

University Honors Kansas City Man

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Robert B. Caldwell, Kansas City attorney, was honored today at the University of Missouri law school alumni luncheon for outstanding service to his alma mater.

He was presented a scroll by Russell L. Dearmont of St. Louis.

Caldwell, 59, has practiced law for 34 years. He was graduated from the law school in 1907.

The luncheon was held in connection with the sixty-first annual meeting of the State Bar Association.

Head Of Boy Scouts To Speak In City

Walter W. Head, national president of the Boy Scouts of America, will be a guest, and principal speaker at the annual Boy Scout banquet in Sedalia, Tuesday, December 9.

The occasion will be a very special one for all persons interested in scout work, as well as others who know of Mr. Head's activities.

U. S. Not To Change

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—(AP)—President Roosevelt declared today that diplomatic relations with Panama would remain absolutely unchanged as a result of the change of presidents in the Central American republic.

He told a press conference he had talked about the Panamanian shift with the state department last night and that apparently it was made in accordance with the Panamanian constitution so that no question of re-recognition was involved.

Mentions Differences

HAVANA, Cuba, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Dr. Arnulfo Arias, ousted president of Panama, said today that "certain differences" had arisen between his administration and United States authorities and he added caustically that his case contained "a lesson for small countries."

In an interview with Cuban reporters he disclosed the situation he left when he fled the little republic incognito before dawn last Tuesday, ostensibly to see an occulist in Cuba.

"It appears that they (little countries) haven't the right to raise living standards, achieve economic independence and prosper lest they be considered a threat' for the future," Arias said.

Wanted To Grant Lands

"My government wished to grant lands (to the United States' for air bases and other defense works but it wished full compensation for private lands," he went on. "Otherwise the much discussed solidarity couldn't be understood.

"The coup convinced me I was wrong. Believe me when I say I sincerely regret it for Panamanians and for those, our good neighbors, of the north."

He acknowledged the Panama's refusal to permit the arming of United States ships of Panama registry had been "badly received" in the United States.

Searching For Fugitives From Algoa

pied by two women whom they forced out after a short drive.

This car collided with one driven by Allen White, Moberly automobile dealer. He was beaten by the two youths but convinced them he had thrown his key in a ditch so they reentered the car belonging to the two women and drove toward Huntsville. Near here the car plunged into a ditch and they escaped on foot.

It was after that they were reported seen crossing a bridge but since then there has been no clue.

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 10.—(AP)—There'll be no future road trips for the Algoa reformatory band.

Last night's escape by two members of the band at Madison was the second time in a month members of the musical organization had run away from out-state engagements.

"There'll be no more outside engagements for the band," said Penal Director Lloyd I. Miller.

"The band is very popular and we get a lot of requests for its appearance. But we just won't tolerate this sort of thing. The band will stay home hereafter."

Gov. Forrest C. Donnell declined public comment on last night's escape but said he would confer with Miller over the incident.

On Sept. 11 two band members escaped at Huntsville after a band concert. One of them, Dan McGrath, was captured in Montana and sentenced to three years in that state's prison for assaulting a motorist. The other, Eugene Cummings, still it as large.

Football Boys Here

Former Officials Are Acquitted

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Federal Judge J. C. Collet today directed the acquittal of three former officials of the state's $17,000,000 building program who were on trial for conspiring to defraud the Public Works Administratiton.

The judge ended the week-old trial of E. C. Childers of Jefferson City, Charles A. Haskins of Kansas City and Eugene S. Klein of St. Louis, with this observation to the jury:

"The evidence is insufficient to indicate any dishonesty or improper motive on the part of these gentlemen."

It was the first of numerous indictments growing out of the building program to go to trial. All the others have been dismissed.

The three men were charged with conspiracy to defraud PWA through false claims for work on the state prison hospital in 1937. Childers was the contractor, Haskins chief architect for the bipartisan advisory board which supervised the building program, and Klein the architect for penal construction.

Strikes Threaten Tank Production

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—(AP)—War department officials said today that the bulk of the army's tank production was threatened with immediate stoppage by a jurisdictional dispute involving the Spicer Manufacturing Company at Toledo, Ohio, and its subsidiary, the Hillsdale (Mich) Steel Products Company.

AFL and CIO unions are involved in the controversy.

The Spicer Company makes about 70 per cent of the transmissions for all the army's tanks and also for most of the half-tractor and "Jeep" combat vehicles.

The Toledo concern reported unless there was a settlement it would have to halt work tonight on transmissions for the military vehicles and that materials were on hand for about a week's further manufacture of parts for the tanks.

Spicer employes about 2,200 workers.

The Toledo plant was said to be involved in the dispute only indirectly. It has a contract with the CIO automobile workers union.

The Hillsdale Company, however, has a contract with the rival ALF automobile workers union, which recently won a labor relations board election there.

Despite the AFL victory, the dispute between the rival unions continued at Hillsdale, and rioting this week resulted in temporary closing of the plant at the request of local officials.

October 27 Is Navy Day

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—(AP)—President Roosevelt announced today that observance of Navy Day on October 27 would be broadened so that it would be a day to observe total defense also and that he would make a radio address on the occasion.

He told his press conference he expected to make the speech at a Navy League dinner here.

Steel Workers Back At Work

By the Associated Press

A giant Alabama steel mill and a forge plant at Buffalo, N. Y., were back in production today following labor disputes, but the Bendix, N. J., plant of Air Associates Inc., faced the possibility of seizure by the government unless mediation board recommendations for settlement of a CIO strike are accepted.

All major units of the Fairfield steel works at Birmingham, Ala., were put back into operation last night and the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company declared the mills, largest in the south, would be kept open. CIO steel workers passed through the picket lines of AFL machinists and electricians who struck yesterday.

The AFL men said they walked out in protest to card inspections by the CIO steel workers organizing committee.

The Airfield Mills normally employ about 11,000. There was no official statement of the number now at work, but a CIO spokesman predicted operations would be at a normal level by tonight. In contrast, an AFL leader predicted that "the whole TCI operation in Birmingham will be will be down by Saturday night."

Troops Start On Furlough

CAMP ROBINSON, Ark., Oct. 10.—(AP)—The largest movement of furloughed troops in this cantonment's history will begin tonight when half the entire strength of the 35th division goes on 15-day leave at midnight.

Two motor transportation companies, Arkansas Motor Coaches and Santa Fe Trailways, which have connections or routes into Nebraska, Kansas, and Missouri announced they would operate a total of 47 special busses. The Missouri Pacific railroad will operate seven special trains.

The leaves will expire October 26 and the remainder of the division will start 15-day leaves October 27.

Opposition To Price Bill

Georgian Don't Want Henderson As Administrator

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Tom Linder, Georgia's commissioner of agriculture, today attacked the administration's pending price control bill and sharply challenged the qualifications of Leon Henderson to head the proposed new control agency.

"The only reason so far advanced for Mr. Henderson to have this job," said Linder, "is that he enjoys the friendship of Baruch, Morgenthau, Straus, Ginsberg and Guggenheim interests."

Presenting a prepared brief to the house banking and currency committee which is holding hearings on the price bill, Linder offered biographical sketches of Henderson, Bernard M. Baruch, Treasury Secretary Henry Morgenthau and Nathan Straus, federal housing administrator, but gave no identification of "Ginsberg."

Endorsed Henderson

"Mr. Baruch and Mr. Morgenthau," continued Linder, "have given their unqualified endorsement to Mr. Henderson for this job. Mr. Baruch and Mr. Morgenthau have spoken their unqualified opposition to any advance in farm prices. x x x Mr. Baruch and Mr. Morgenthau are much too smart to give their unqualified endorsement to any man for a job of this kind without knowing beforehand that he would administer the office in conformity with their views.

Henderson, he sserted further, "has no more idea of the hardships of people on the farms than the man in the moon" and "no more knowledge of financial and other problems that beset farmers than an Eskimo."

Henderson, he asserted further, ministrator in the present defense set-up and, although there has been no official indications on the subject, he frequently has been mentioned as the likely man to take charge of the broader price control program contemplated in the pending legislation.

Hit By Farmer—Not Industry

Linder, appearing as the representative of southern commissioners of agriculture, contended that the pending bill would fix prices for both farm products and for farm labor wages, but it would not control the prices of industrial products.

He advocated instead the enactment of legislation "that will guarantee proportionate prices between agricultural products and industrial products based on the same relationship and proportion that prevailed during periods of agricultural and general prosperity."

Must Control Labor

"It is impossible to control the prices of any commodities, either agricultural or industrial," he argued "unless you control the price of the labor entering into the production of such commodities.

"Fixing a price on cotton, wheat, cattle or other farm products automatically fixes the maximum labor costs.

The President and some departmental heads have already expressed their opposition to the control of the price of industrial labor.

"You gentlemen know that it is impossible to control the prices of industrial products without controlling the price of labor entering into their production.

"It therefore follows as a necessary and inescapable result that this bill as written would fix the prices on products of the farm, but would not fix the prices on industrial products which the farmers must buy."

Stock Market Tried To Rally

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—(AP)—The stock market tried to dig in for a rally today as Wall Street took a less pessimistic view of the Russo-German situattion.

Aiding an early recovery swing which lost momentum in the later proceedings was the absence of any important carryover selling from yesterday. Prices at the best were fractions to a point or more higher for steels, aircrafts, rails, coppers and specialties, but many were unable to hold the pace. Closing quotations were mixed.

Dealings were approximately 500,000 shares, a considerable drop from the previous day.

Contributing to better support for selected issues was the feeling in speculative quarters that successive declines this week which had carried prices on average to the lowest since last July 7 had prepared the ground for a technical rally.

Lawyers At Meeting

John Montgomery and John Martin, local attorneys, left this morning for St. Louis to attend the Missouri State Bar Association meeting. Fred Hulse, of Sedalia, chairman of the Missouri Bar Administration Committee, is in St. Louis also attending the meeting.

Eyes of Big Six On Missouri-Nebraska

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 10—(AP)—The eyes of Texas probably will be on the gridiron struggle between Texas and Oklahoma at Dallas tomorrow, but the eyes of Big Six conference devotees will be watching the goings-on between Nebraska and Kansas at Lincoln and Kansas State and Missouri at Columbia.

Iowa State will have a day off Saturday after their 14 to 0 shellacking last week end from Nebraska.

The wiseacres have indicated a favorable leaning toward Nebraska as likely victor over Kansas and Missouri over Kansas State, but Coach Gwinn Henry has coached his boys for a snappy pass attack and the Cornhuskers may have their hands full. The tricky Tigers are not expected to have as much trouble with Kansas State's Wildcats.

Rains this week have softened the playing fields at Lincoln and Columbia, but fair weather is forecast for tomorrow.

May Have A New State Park

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 10—(AP)—A new state park may result from the gift of 1400 acres near St. James, Mo., to the Protestant Episcopal church of Missouri.

Bishop William Scarlett of the Missouri Diocese said most of the tract, bequeathed to the church by the late Mrs. Lucy Wortham James, had been offered the State Park board for development. The church plans to retain 300 to 400 acres.

Mrs. James, who died in 1938, was a granddaughter of a founder of a St. James iron works.

Mickey Owen Says It Was His Fault

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Oct. 19—(AP)—Arnold (Mickey) Owen, the Brooklyn catcher, arrived home yesterday and immediately tried to convince the homefolks that it was entirely his fault the Dodgers lost to the Yankees in the World Series.

Owen's classical error permitted the Yanks to win last Sunday's game and, shouldering all the blame for that bobble, Mickey told friends who greeted him at his 250-acre farm, 10 miles south of here, that "if it hadn't been for that muff Whit Wyatt would have been given another day of rest—and with more rest he would have beaten the Yankees again."

Owen will live in a four-room house on his James river farm until he decides definitely whether or not to replace the large home that was destroyed by fire last spring. Meanwhile, he intends to invest part of his world series money in a herd of cattle.

He disclosed he had already disposed of his herd of goats but added "not because they reminded me of my part in the series."

Herb Barker On The Limb In Grid Picks

Picks Some As Winners; Doubtful On Several Others

By HERB BARKER

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Climbing out on the football limb and waiting patiently for the drop that's sure to come:

Rice-Tulane: No weakness in this Tulane machine that anyone his discovered so far. Maybe Rice's Owls will come up with the answer but this corner, for one, will have to be shown. Tulane.

Texas-Oklahoma: Dana Bible's Texans boast a good line, a flock of talented backs headed by Pete Layden and Jack Crain, and plenty of scoring punch. Oklahoma's played only one game and remains a question mark. Maybe it'll be an exclamation point after Saturday. Until then, Texas.

Georgia Tech-Notre Dame: Tech scared the ears off Notre Dame in that 26-20 business a year ago. This may be another scare but there appears to be too much depth in this Notre Dame squad for the Engineers in the long run. Notre Dame.

North Carolina-Fordham: Fordham nearly got its ears pinned back by S. M. U. a week ago. Maybe that experience will do the highly-touted Rams some good. They rate a pronounced nod over North Carolina in any case.

Oregon State-Stanford: These games in the north are a football guesser's nightmare. State was good enough to whip Washington a week ago and should give Stanford a battle. Hesitatingly, Stanford.

Minnesota - Illinois: Obviously Illinois is improved but this doesn't look like the spot for a Gopher beating. Minnesota.

Yale-Penn: The season probably will see no more spirited rally than Yale's 21-point second half drive to beat Virginia. But Penn seems to have unlimited punch. We'll take Penn..

Navy-Lafayette: Shouldn't be more than a good workout for Navy.

Maryland - Duke: Ditto for Duke.

Boston College-Clemson: Looks like a real dog-fight and the guess here is Boston College.

New York University-Texas A. and M.: No real line on the Texans yet but this ballot is cast for them.

Michigan-Pitt: The Panthers may make it close, but even that is subject to doubt. Michigan.

Army-Virginia Military: Taking army with no real assurance.

Northwestern - Wisconsin: The Badgers will have to do better than they did against Marquette to even stay in this ball game. Northwestern.

Temple-Georgetown: Stringing along with Temple.

Dartmouth-Colgate: Looks like a real battle. Colgate, narrowly.

Harvard-Cornell: Seems Harvard won't prove just how good it is until November. Cornell.

Princeton-Columbia: Plenty of savvy and no depth on this typical Lou Little-coached Columbia outfit. Picking Columbia.

Syracuse - Holy Cross: The Orange wasted its opportunities in the Cornell game. Awaiting proof of a change in that direction, Holy Cross.

Michigan State-Marquette: On what it showed last week, Marquette.

Missouri- Kansas State: Taking Missouri.

Baylor - Arkansas: Guessing again . . . Baylor.

California - Santa Clara: That California bubble really burst last week. Still this should be close. Santa Clara.

Southern California - Oregon: Maybe the Trojans can bounce back after that Ohio State rout but it's doubtful. Oregon.

Washington State-Washington: Extremely even, it appears. Washington.

Skipping over the chalklines otherwise: Duquesne over Manhattan; Penn State over Bucknell; Brown over Rhode Island State; Rutgers over Lehigh; West Virginia over West Virginia Wesleyan; Detroit over Central Michigan; Southern Methodist over College of Pacific; Citadel over Presbyterian; Alabama over Howard; Auburn over Louisiana Tech; Tennessee over Dayton; Davidson over Sewanee; Utah over Wyoming; Colorado over Utah State; Denver over Brigham Young; U. C. L. A. over Montana.

Missouri's 'P' Team Plays At Fort Riley

COLUMBIA, Mo. Oct. 10—(AP)—Coach Don Faurot announced here this morning two Missouri football teams had been scheduled to play at Fort Riley, Kas. Saturday, November 8.

While the Tiger varsity is playing in New York the "X" team will tangle with a Fort Riley contingent made up of former college stars. In the evening the Missouri freshmen team will meet the gridders of the fort medical detachment.

This is the first time in several years we have scheduled a game of this type, Faurot said. "We can do it now under compliance with the new Big Six ruling which allows competition with service organization sports teams."

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10—(The Special News Service)—You can't keep up with the sports seasons. . . . Here we thought football was just warming up and we find Ned Irish working overtime on his basketball bookings. . . . Ned has not announced his first college show at the Garden yet (it will be Dec. 13) but he has so many applications for season tickets he doesn't know how he will manage to hold out enough choice seats for the colleges. . . . What's this we hear about Duquesne threatening to quit football? Story is the Dukes can't compete with Pitt at the gate and Pitt won't compete with Duquesne on the field. . . . Phil Rizzuto has promised to be one of the umpires when Fort Niagara baseball champion of the Second Army Corps area, plays Fort Adams, First Corps area champ, at Brooklyn's Dexter park tomorrow.

Take A Chance Dept.

Playing safe on this week's football selection, we'll continue to string along with Minnesota and Stanford although they may have tough going against Illinois and Oregon State. . . . In fact, if this is the time Bob Zuppke wants to win just to show up the guys who were trying to get him fired, we wouldn't be a bit surprised to see Illinois upset the Gophers. . . Other picks are Boston College over Clemson—because it isn't as hot in Boston as it was at New Orleans and because our Clemson scout admits: "I don't think we are as good as Tulane." . . . Colgate over Dartmouth—because we don't think Andy Kerr has shown his hand yet, although reports from New England say Dartmouth has a real good team. . . . Notre Dame over Georgia Tech and Fordham over North Carolina—because we think they're a lot better . . . For tonight, Temple to beat Georgetown, which fooled us twice and Mississippi to beat Georgia—because Frankie Sinkwich won't be at his best with a broken jaw.

Today's Guest Star

Dan Desmond, Sioux City (Ia.) Journal: "I can't admit the Yankees were lucky any more than Louis was a darling of the gods when he whistled that right to Nova's whiskers. I will admit that simple moral justice should have installed Brooklyn's Bravos as champions. Trouble is, the only place where good triumphs over evil is in the rassling ring."

One Minute Sports Page

Latest addition to the "bowl" games is the Carolina bowl, which will send 22 North Carolina players against 22 from South Carolina for the Greenville (S. C.) Lions club charity fund, Dec. 6. . . . The assumption is the governors will be there to make their famous remarks. . . . Sam Taub, the fight broadcaster, will turn actor Oct. 15 on the "Meet Mr. Meek" program. He has been cast as a fight announcer. . . . South Dakota is due to get a look at several baseball bigwigs during the next week or two while the baseballers look over shotgun barrels at some of that state's ten million pheasants. . . . Len Will, who almost played fullback for Columbia this season, and Dave Allerdice, Princeton's 1940 passing ace, will listen to the Lions-Tigers game together tomorrow down at Chickasha, Okla., where the air corps sent them both. . . . Joe Louis' next opponent may be Corp John Pivovar of Fort Sheridan, Ill., who is being urged to tackle the champ during Louis' exhibition tour. . . . John's pals say he couldn't do any worse than Lou Nova.

Last Laugh

Alexis Thompson, who invested some of his spare cash in the Philly Eagles instead of polo ponies, still figures it was a wise move. Pro football players, he argues, weigh just as much as polo ponies, cost more to feed, but don't take as much stable room.

Efficiency consists in doing two things at once—because you're too lazy to do them one at a time.

Washington U. Meets Okla. Aggies Saturday

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 10.—(AP)—No football team likes to get beat but a one-sided walloping is an unforgettable insult, a crushing blow to pride and a defeat to avenge.

Erstwhile lambs at a slaughter, Washington University's Bears have a driving desire for retribution in their Missouri Valley conference game with the Oklahoma Aggies tomorrow. The Aggies won at Stillwater last year, 53 to 12.

"I guarantee there won't be another game like that one," was the grim promise of Coach Butch Loebs. "We're not handing out gifts to anyone any more. We're going to play for keeps. We're sick and tired of losing. I don't mean the coaching staff alone—I mean the team as a whole."

With that determination to win, phychology may be the twelfth man on the field for the Bears.

They'll need reserve strength, because that was their downfall in the opening game with Kansas last week. The Bears, tied 6-all after three periods, lost 19 to 6.

Dewey "Snorter" Luster Worries Away Five Pounds

NORMAN, Okla., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Eccentric Dewey Luster, the Oklahoma Sooner's new football coach who answers to the awful nickname of Snorter, is the littlest, biggest worrier in America.

He's worried away five pounds over his game with mighty Texas at Dallas tomorrow and at this rate will be dried up and blown away before the season ends.

Snorter has only 136 pounds to start with, packed solidly in a 5 foot 6 inch frame. He is the smallest head coach ever seen in these parts.

This mild-appearing, bespectacled little fellow has a fellow tag along behind him on the practice field with a thermos of coffee, Snorter sipping a cup when he feels an idea for a new play coming on.

• The Washington Merry-go-Round

• by Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON—The most important report ever made on the American war effort has just been placed in the hands of the President—and it is not very encouraging. Briefly it shows that between July 1 of this year and December 31, 1942, the production of the United States will only equal the combined production of Canada and the United Kingdom.

This is despite the fact that the United Kingdom all last year was subjected to a constant rain of bombs, and despite the fact that we have two and one-half times the population of Canada and the United Kingdom, plus six times their resources.

The report was prepared at the instigation of Secretary of War Stimson who wanted to see just where the armed forces of the United States stood. The man who drafted the report is Bob Nathan, who does a lot of confidential work for Stimson. On this job he worked under Stacey May, crack economist of the OPM, who took a special trip to London where he studied British production figures and also German production results—as far as the British were able to supply them.

Stimson Shocked

Friends of Secretary of War Stimson say he was shocked at the findings of the report, which show lamentable lack of long-range planning by the Army. Other high-ups in the Administration take a somewhat more optimistic view, though all feel that the country has not yet taken its coat off.

The study covered the eighteen months from this summer up to the beginning of 1943 and here are some of the highlights of important findings:

By the end of 1942, the United States, although playing the role of "The Arsenal of Democracy," will be supplying only 50 per cent of Democracy's war material.

By the end of 1942 also, U. S. production of heavy bombing planes will be only 35 per cent of British heavy bomber production.

During the same period, our total bomber production—heavy, light, and medium bombers—will be only 70 per cent of the British. This despite the fact that bombers are considered the chief means of taking the aggressive and winning the war.

By the end of 1942 also, the United States will only equal the British output of fighter planes.

Most discouraging part of the report, however, is the production of artillery. The manufacture of big guns is lagging far behind the British. Another discouraging factor is that the U. S. Army is still continuing the purchase of medium bombers, though the British have just about discarded this type of plane. They are concentrating only on heavy bombers for long-range offensives, to Berlin and Italy plus light bombers for dive-bombing. The medium bomber is being weeded out.

On the encouraging side of the picture is U. S. production of tanks, which is forging well ahead of the British. Furthermore, a study of Nazi production leads to the conclusion that adding the airplane production of Canada, the United States and Great Britain together, this grand total is now equal to, if not somewhat ahead of the Germans.

Reasons For U. S. Delay

Also on the more optimistic side, OPM experts point out that American industry has three valid excuses for its slow start. One is that we have shipped large quantities of parts to the British, which they have assembled. This has speeded their production, but slowed down ours. Second, all during last year the United States was sending machine tools to England, which, of course, also slowed U. S. production. Finally, the British have had a more definite schedule of what they wanted, while the U. S. Army's schedule was slow in being set up.

On the other hand, OPM experts point to certain inexcusable errors for which industry, the Army and the Roosevelt administration must take the blame.

One, was delay and quibbling over taxes. Several business firms delayed weeks to see what their taxes would be before they would sign government contracts in the summer of 1940.

Two, was the failure of Ordance to plan and provide for a large enough army. The Army's famous M-day for the beginning of war did not call Congressional appropriations, incidentally, until after war was declared, following which two years was to be required to build up an army. Fortunately, the appropriations have now come before a declaration of war; but all the army's plans were based upon a slow getaway.

Three, industry insisted on building new factories instead of revamping the machinery in its existing plants. Thus, although Detroit motor factories could have been converted to the production of airplane engines, new plants were built instead; and now the auto plants will have to slow down for lack of raw material. If industry had been willing to curtail auto production at the very start, months of defense effort would have been saved.

Four, no effort was made during the early days of defense to expand facilities for raw materials—steel, aluminum, copper, zinc, etc. So now industry finds itself desperately short. This was due to the inexcusably bad planning of certain Dollar-A-Year-Men.

But those who have studied this all-important report say there is no use trying to go back for the purpose of fixing the blame; that it is far better instead to draw certain vital conclusions. Chief conclusion they draw is that at the present rate, the United States can drag along for about ten years and there still may be war in Europe.

Therefore, they urge prodigious effort immediately, even an expeditionary force if necessary, so the war will not drag on interminably.

Deceptive Figures

Now let's shift from the long-range view to the present. Highly publicized have been airplane production figures—July 1,460; August 1,854, and September, 1-914. Defense chiefs cite them with great pride as evidence that this vital phase of the armament program is making steady progress.

It is true that aircraft output is improving and the monthly reports showing gains in total figures are impressive. But when these figures are examined closely, the picture is not so glittering.

Inside scrutiny discloses that, while the total aircraft output is generally advancing, this production is chiefly in trainers, pursuit and observation planes—all necessary for aerial warfare but not the immediate pressing need. The urgent requirement is bombers, particularly four motor, long-range bombers.

In this type of warplane, U. S. output is still not far beyond the starting-scratch stage. To date, we have never produced more than twenty "Flying Fortress" type of bombers in any one month—and that figure was reached only in one month, some time ago.

Of the July, August and September plane totals, only about one-seventh were bombers. And of this number around 250 were light and medium bombers and only a small fraction were the desperately needed four-motor heavies.

U. S. heavy bombers are without peer in the world, and production measures are under way greatly to increase their output. But this increase will not begin to materialize until well into next year and, unless present plans are drastically stepped up, the 500 monthly bomber goal fixed last May by the President will not be reached until the spring of 1943.

Note—Of the four-motor bombers so far sent to Britain only two have been lost on raiding flights. Both losses were due to mechanical trouble and not enemy action.

Late In Starting

There are a number of reasons for the drag in getting big bomber production under way.

Chief of them is that it wasn't until last spring that military masterminds awoke to the urgent tactical necessity for these planes.

In the meanwhile we had been concentrating on developing our long-range bombers to a high degree of proficiency but had done very little about creating productive capacity to turn them out in large numbers. Then in May the President announced the 500-a-month bomber goal and belatedly OPM turned to the job of big scale production.

Bombers, particularly four-motor ones, are tremendously complicated machines. They can't be produced overnight, or in every plant. Their manufacture requires great engineering skill, vast industrial organization and coordination, and huge quantities of strategic materials, such as aluminum, magnesium and steel.

Big strides have been made in putting all these cogs together. Some defense authorities contend that a lot more could have been done to speed up production capacity. Also, that the plans set in motion should have been on a far greater scale. But on the basis of what is under way this is the present production outlook:

Production Outlook

By spring the two huge government assembly plants at Tulsa and Fort Worth should be turning out 100 four-motor bombers a month. Soon thereafter the Boeing and Consolidated plants on the West Coast now undergoing large expansions, should have stepped up their output to 50 bombers each a month, adding another 100 and making a grand total of 200.

Then, by mid-summer, if all goes well, the new $47,000,000 Ford Plant at Ypsilanti, Mich., should be getting into production turning out four-motor Consolidated bombers at the rate of 100 a month. This will bring the total up to 300 monthly.

The remaining 200 a month are scheduled to be obtained from a so-called "production pool" to be created from the facilities of the Douglas, Lockheed and Boeing plants. This pool, however, is not scheduled to come into operation until the first quarter of 1943. That means, as the set-up is now geared, that the President's goal of 500 bombers a month will not be attained until May, 1943, two years after he proclaimed it.

Note: One avoidable delay in big bomber production was due to bungling priority administration under the old OPM set-up. Boeing was held up several months last summer in getting started on a new bomber order because of inability to get aluminum supplies, which had been allocated to less important industries.

Sheep Raisers Given Advice By A. W. Uren

Art McQuiddy Compiles Notes Of Farm Life

(Down The Furrow by Art McQuiddy)

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 9—(AP)—Keeping sheep in good condition during the fall months before winter brings bitter cold is most important, officials at the University of Missouri College of Agriculture say.

'Many sheep raisers are inclined to be lax in the care they give their sheep," A. W. Uren of the college explained. "The sheep should be drenched regularly until about December 20 since worms are picked up until the temperature changes to below 40 degrees."

Now is a good time to dip flocks which are not dipped in early summer months. This is especially important in flocks showing signs of rubbing and biting their wool. If a dipping powder is used, one dipping should be sufficient to control lice and biting.

This is also a good time to have beef calves vaccinated for blackleg. It will prevent losses later from this disease. Any animal under 18 months of age that has not been vaccinated needs to be treated.

The importance of pork and lard as a National Defense food has made the production of hogs more important to the farmer. T. W. Ewing pointed out a few special precautions with the fall pig crop to bring as much as a third more profit.

A good system of swine sanitation is the answer. One of the chief barriers in the successful production of pigs is roundworm. Rigid sanitation rules will do much to protect young pigs the first weeks, when they are most vulnerable to infection by the roundworm.

Study by the U. S. department of agriculture and state agencies has developed a relatively simple system of swine sanitation. This calls for placing the sow which is about to farrow in a clean farrowing house, after she has been washed with warm water and soap to remove any roundworm eggs.

A second step is to keep the pigs in the clean farrowing house for about 10 days. The third procedure is to haul sow and litter to a clean pasture which has been plowed and planted to at least one crop since last serving as a hog pasture.

Poultrymen of the U. S. department of agriculture have been experimenting with salt as a means of eliminating cannibalism in the chicks raised in confinement.

One of the simplest ways to use this method of prevention is to sprinkle a thin layer of salt on top of the mash just enough to be seen. If the salt is going to help, you'll see the effect of it within a few hours of the time the birds get it. There is no value in using it more than two or three days. Some poultrymen have not tried salt because it makes the birds drink more water. However, its use for two or three days will not have serious consequences.

Miss Flora Carl of the Missouri College of Agriculture is a firm believer in that old saying 'an apple a day keeps the doctor away."

Miss Carl points out that babies which have difficulty in digesting cow's milk are frequently given milk in which an apple powder has been added, and fresh apple is quite often recommended for babies by doctors.

In addition to the pectin apples supply, they also furnish vitamin C. If the apples are to be cooked a short cooking time helps retain this vitamin and also the natural flavor of the apple.

Whole apples which are cooked quickly in syrup atop the stove have more nutritive value than baked apples.

The college of agriculture at the University of Missouri has prepared an excellent guide on the characteristics of different apples which can be obtained free by writing there.

Three Supreme Court Judges To Be Elected

New Method Of Election Will Be Tested

(Around The Missouri Capitol By Howard Flieger)

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 10—(AP)—Three Missouri Supreme Court Judges will be elected next year—

But there'll be no campaign, no stump appearances of opposing candidates, no party designations—and only one name on the ballot for each judgeship.

And by coincidence Missouri voters, picking judges in that new fashion for the first time, may at the same election abolsh the system so it will never be used again.

A year from November marks the first test—a double-edged test by the way—of the new partisian election for the state's highest court.

On next year's ballot of constitutional propositions will be a legislature-inspired proposal to repeal the court plan on the first day of its use. If the repealer carries the plan will be dead—but the judges chosen through its one application will be on the bench for 10 years.

The terms of three veteran Democrats expire next year—Charles Thomas Hays, Ernest M. Tipton and C. A. Leedy, Jr. If they choose to seek another term their names will appear on the ballot alone and without party designation.

Voters will have but one alternative. They will vote on the question whether the judges should be retained in office. If a majority say "yes" the judges embark on new terms. If a majority says "no" new judges will be appointed by the governor—from a list of candidates submitted by an advisory board—and these appointees will serve until ratified or rejected at the next election.

County recorder Henry Le Page, the only Republican Official in Cole County's courthouse, has adorned his office with a huge circus-poster sized portrait of Gov. Forrest C. Donnell—the only Republican Official in the statehouse.

Capitol talk these days centers around the future of Missouri's Highway Patrol. Most observers say it is for the governor to decide whether the patrol shall continue as a crime fighting organization, or shall be reduced to a squad of traffic cops which, according to the Attorney General, is all the law allows.

Donnell says he hasn't had an opportunity to go into the Attorney General's ruling. Until he does, the patrol will continue its present policies.

Speaking of Attorney General opinions, here's one to show the kids:

The legal department ruled this week that a gasoline motor attached to Buster's bicycle to ease the leg work automatically converts it into a motorcycle. Motorcycle tags cost $7.50 a year—and you have to be at least 16 years old to be a motorcyclist.

'Mercy Killing' Said To Be Advocated by Nazis

out the verdict, leaving that to the audience. The course of the evidence is an appeal made to the human side of the case and a suggestion of a change in the present German law which would, for example, permit medical commissions to decide whether a person should legally be given a mercy death.

The film undoubtedly was designed to do the necessary spade work.

There is no reliable information as to how many thousands of Germans already have been given a mercy death, apparently through painless gas.

Christianity At Stake

Catholic bishops, in a letter read in all churches last June in which they warned that "Christianity was at stake in Germany," also made a fleeting generalized reference to mercy killing.

"There are sacred obligations of conscience," their letter said, "from which no one can free us and which we must fulfill even if it costs us our own lives. Never under any circumstances may a human being, aside from war and justified self-defense, kill an innocent persons."

Bishop Von Galen elaborated that statement in his sermon, now making the rounds of Germany in chain letter fashion.

"For several months," the bishop said, "we have heard reports that patients who have been ill for a long time and perhaps appear to be incurable have been forcefully removed from sanatoriums and asylums for the insane by orders from Berlin.

Deaths Brought About

"Regularly then after a short time, a relative received notice that the person had died, the body had been cremated, and the ashes could be delivered. A suspicion, bordering on certainty, exists generally that these numerous and unexpected cases of the death of the insane don't happen of themselves but are intentionally brought about, that the teaching is being followed which maintains that one may destrop the lives of so-called "persons unworthy to live," and so kill innocent persons if one thinks their lives are no longer of use to the nation and state."

This was a reference to the cardinal Nazi principle that the nation is everything and the individual nothing.

"Married Bachelor" and "Great Guns" starts Sunday at the Fox Theatre for two days.

"Married Bachelor" is the story of a beloved small time get-rich-quick schemer who becomes a national idol by a fluke. One of the world's greatest ladies' man, he is finally forced to excuse himself over a nation-wide radio hookup to save his own romance.. Ruth Hussey and Robert Young are the battling couple who prove that adventure and intrigue combine with marriage only up to a certain point.

"Under Fiesta Stars" and "Citadel of Crime" at the Fox theatre Today and Saturday

Gene Autry is as popular with his leading ladies as he is with his many fans. They are all eager to return to the Republic lot to be featured with the singing cowboy. Carol Hughes, who was Autry's leading lady earlier in his career, has the leading role in his latest film, "Under Fiesta Stars," now showing at the Fox theatre. Smiley Burnett again carries the comedy rcle in this latest picture.

Too Optimistic Early In War

WARRENSBURG, Mo., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Alexander Kerensky, Russian premier in the 1917 interim between Czarist and Soviet regimes, believes "the Kremlin will be able to resist but a few months at best."

Declaring he was "to optimistic" in his hopes for a Russian victory when the Germans first invaded, Kerensky told a district teachers' association meeting that internal conditions would prevent the Soviet's holding out long but that guerilla warfare might continue as long as two years.

Rayon comes forward this year in luxury clothes, as well as budget items. Typical of the trend is the gown shown above. Deep bands of self-ruching garland the sweeping skirt and tiny long-stemmed bodice. The heart-shaped decolletage has simple self-fabric shoulder straps. This fabric is rayon faille.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC SALE OF LANDS AND LOTS IN PETTIS COUNTY, MISSOURI, FOR DELINQUENT TAXES

The following is a list of lands and lots located in Pettis County, Missouri, to be offered for sale for delinquent taxes at the West Court House door, beginning on Monday, November 3rd, 1941, at 10 o'clock A. M., and continuing from day to day, as indicated by the following publication, by the undersigned, according to the provisions of Senate Bill No. 94 of the Laws of Missouri, 1933, and Senate Bill No. 311 of the Laws of Missouri, 1939.

The lands and lots are to be sold under the descriptions as listed, and the amounts as shown due for each year represent a total amount of taxes, interest and costs, including the cost of this sale, and a certificate or deed will be issued covering as much of said land and lots as is necessary to discharge the total taxes, interest and charges which are due thereon at the time of sale.

Nation's Farmers Asked To Help Win 'Battle Of Food'

KANSAS CITY Oct. 10—(AP)—The nation's farmers were called upon last night by two government agricultural officials to roll up their sleeves and help Great Britain win her "batle of food."

R. M. Evans, administrator of the agricultural administration adjustment administration, told farm leaders from 16 states that if the British were to win the war they must have a steady flow of American food, particularly meat and dairy products.

It was Evans' first address since his return from England where he and Undersecretary of Agriculture Paul M. Appleby surveyed the food situation there.

Program Launched

Appleby told the farm meeting, which launched the government's "food for freedom" program, that while the British are better off than they were 90 days ago the lease-lend shipments must still be stepped up.

"The big job before us," said Evans, "is mainly one of converting ever-normal granary reserves we have on hand to concentrated products like milk and meat and to keeping all the rest of our production in balance."

"The world today is like a speed car headed straight for a bottomless crater," he continued. "For the moment we Americans are at the wheel, in a position to turn that speeding car onto a safe road—if we act in time. It will take food, munitions and more food—the right kinds of food—to do the job."

From 16 States

Farm leaders and agricultural officials from Missouri, Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Colorado, New Mexico, Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas, Tennessee, Kentucky, Illinois, Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota attended the meeting.

Both Evans and Appleby said that meat was the essential commodity need of England.

"Ernest Bevin, the minister of labor, told us that it's meat that the British workers need," Appleby said. "Give them enough meat, he told us, and production would step up 15 to 20 per cent."

Gives Example

Evans related one phase of how lack of meat had affected the British:

"I was talking to an American research doctor, and he said, 'Did you notice the number of little bandages on people on the streets?' I said I hadn't, and that it wouldn't have meant anything to me if I had. He said, 'they are lacking in vitamins in their blood, and whenever they scratch themselves it doesn't heal rapidly. You might scratch your hand and in a day or two it is healed, but with them it takes a couple of weeks.'"

Appleby emphasized the extent to which England had utilized its land by saying that 16,000,000 acres now were under cultivation as compared to 12,000,000 before the war.

Mind Your Manners

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. Should you ask his parents' permission before taking a neighborhood child for a ride in your car?

2. If a neighborhood child wanders in just at meal time, should you urge him to eat with the family?

3. If the neighborhood child does something that is destructive to your property, and you are afraid it will happen again, should you spank the child or tell his parents?

4. If you are not sure how gently your dog or cat will play with a small child who is likely to tease him, should you shut the pet up when the child comes to visit?

5. If you visit a person who is obviously fond of dogs, should you talk about how silly you think it is for grown-ups to become attached to pets?

What would you do if—

You think that some toys your child has outgrown might amuse a younger child in the neighborhood—

(a) Give them to him without asking his mother if she cares?

(b) Ask his mother if she cares if he has the toys, explaining that your own child has outgrown them?

Answers

1. Yes. As many parents are extremely careful about the persons with whom their children ride.

2. No. For it he does so he will probably be disobeying his mother.

3. Tell his parents. Never punish a neighbor's child.

4. Yes.

5. No.

Best "What Would You Do" solution—(b) as there may be some reason why his mother does not want him to have them.

RELIGIOUS REMARKABLES

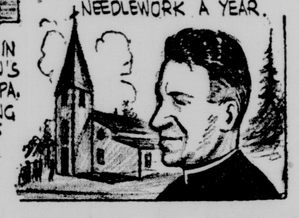
ONE OF THE FEW LYCH-GATES IN THE UNITED STATES IS AT ST. JOHN'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH, LANSDOWNE, PA. THESE GATES, FOR SHELTER DURING CHURCH-YARD FUNERALS HAVE BEEN IN USE IN RURAL ENGLAND FOR MORE THAN 13 CENTURIES!

FATHER D. WILFRED SOUCY, PASTOR IN ST. JOHN'S VALLEY IN MAINE, HAS, THROUGH HIS LAUNCHING OF THE VALLEY'S HANDICRAFTS COOPERATIVE, TURNED A DISCOURAGED COMMUNITY OF 30,000 INTO A THRIVING, CONFIDENT COMMUNITY WHICH TURNS OUT $350,000 WORTH OF NEEDLEWORK A YEAR.



This feature sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Religion And Youth

Today we Americans are gravely concerned with the character of the coming generation . . . We feel the magnitude of the post-war problems which they will face in the bewildering complexity of a post-war world.

We know that their success or failure will depend, in large measure, upon the honesty and sanity of those intellectual and emotional patterns which characterize an age.

And we feel that never has any generation been more in need of that vision and courage, that energy and aspiration which we so much desire for our youth.

We know moreover, that great hope and great courage cannot live in small souls . . . We see that this problem is essentially a spiritual problem . . . and that Religion alone can give our youth the qualities necessary to meet the internal stresses and external impacts now overtaking this democracy.

It is no wonder, then, that now, as always, we are turning to the churches of our choice—Catholic, Protestant and Jewish—and confidently placing our youth in the hands of Religion, whose whole history has been a tireless and courageous struggle to build strong spiritual ramparts for mankind.

Profit by Christianity's Ideals In Contrast With Ways of World

Text: Matthew 20:25-28; Luke 19:1-10.

By William E. Gilroy, D. D
Editor of Advance

Lessons for this quarter all have the interesting feature of being selected from two passages of Scripture. There are some advantages in this, particularly when. as in this lesson, a presentation of the essence of the Christian religion and way of life is associated with a practical example or incident from life.

The four verses from the 20th chapter of Matthew present as vividly and definitely as could be stated the Christian ideal and way of life in contrast with the way of the world. The contrast is so unmistakable it is amazing so many have failed to profit by it. Even professing Christians and those associated with the church have been more concerned about pursuing the way of the world in personal ambition for power or material reward rather than in consecrating themselves to the Christian ministry of service.

"The rulers of the Gentiles," said Jesus, "lord it over them, and their great ones exercise authority over them." Is not that an exact picture of just what has been happening in all countries throughout the ages? To attain to power and to exercise authority has been the goal of men of great abilities and their petty imitators.

Jesus says that this in not the Christian way. In the Kingdom that He came to establish, greatness is not reckoned by lordship and authority, but by the measure of one's capacity and willingness to minister. Whosoever would be first in this Kingdom is the one who most truly serves his fellowmen, and first of all in the Kingdom is Jesus Himself, "who came not to be ministered unto, but to minister and to give his life a ransom for many." Repeatedly, both by precept and example, Jesus sought to enforce this lesson concerning true greatness

From this we turn to the interesting story of Zacchaeus, a man held in little esteem and of no account in his community, who nevertheless through the ministry of Jesus became great. Zacchaeus was a "chief publican" — that means that he was head of the local tax gatherers, who represented the hated power of Rome. As such he would be regarded as a traitor to his race, although his name signified "the pure" or "the just."

The custom of taxation under the Romans was to farm out or let the privilege of tax collection to a successful bidder who was likely to make his profit out of extortion. Zacchaeus may have made his wealth legitimately, or he may have been an extortioner. His extortions could not have been very extensive, or he could not have restored four-fold to anybody whom he had wronged.

In a great sermon on overcoming hindrances, the famous preacher of last century, Robertson of Brighton, defended Zacchaeus as a man who might have made a false step but who, with all the temptations of his profession and with all the contempt of his community, was endeavoring nonetheless to triumph over hindrance and live a good and honorable life. His eagerness to see Jesus was genuinely honest, and what Jesus brought him was not only salvation but vindication. It is an interesting view, and Robertson's sermon is well worth reading and considering by any reader who can secure it in Robertson's sermons through a public library.

Many Families In Medical Group

More than 7,432 low-income farm families comprising 35,618 persons, working with the Farm Security Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture, in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa and Missouri, are participating in a Group Medical Care Program.

This information was received here this week by Oscar H. DeWolf, rural rehabilitation supervisor for the FSA in Pettis county, from P. G. Beck, regional director of this federal agency at Indianapolis Ind.

The information, Mr. DeWolf said, was taken from a report for the fiscal year ending June 30.

The Group Medical Care Program, sponsored by the FSA in cooperation with local physicians, makes medical attention more readily available to low-income rural people at a cost they can afford. The plan operates on a voluntary basis.

The Group Medical Care Program makes it possible for physicians, particularly in rural areas, to give essential medical care to needy farm families at the time it is needed. It also enables the participating families to safeguard their health and receive attention as at cost they can afford to pay.

Jewish Feast Of Sukos Observed

The Jewish festival of Sukos, the Feast of Aabernacles, began on the evening of Sunday, October 5. It is a joyous thanksgiving festival, observed for eight days with an atmosphere of autumn fruits and foilage symbolizing God's goodness to men. Orthodox and Conservative Jews observe the festival for nine days.

Also known as the Festival of Booths, Sukos was in biblical days an agricultural festival. It was the occasion for Jews to make a pilgrimage to the Holy City as an expression of praise and thanksgiving to God for His bounty.

Although the destruction of the Temple brought changes in the observance of the holiday, the festival retains great spiritual significance today. Observant Jews still build a suko, or small booth, as a reminder of the time when the Jews lived in such booths during the forty years of wandering in the desert. The booths are decorated with fruits and foliage of the fall season to symbolize God's providence and loving kindness. The Synagogue is decorated with fruits and flowers, the palm branch, with the citron, and sprigs of fragrant myrtle, as well as boughs of the willow tree. All these represent the harvest character of the festival.

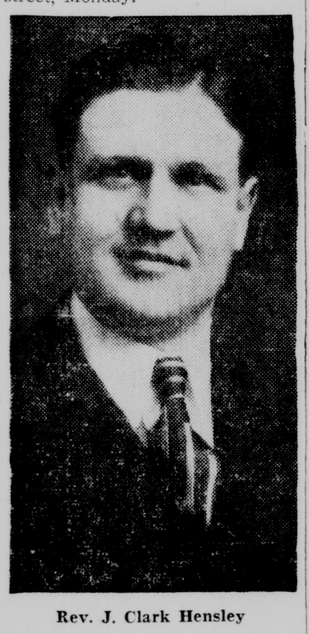
Beyond the historic significance of the "suko" many other meanings are attached to this small tabernacle which stands near the home of each observant Jew at this season. Its frailty symbolizes the transitoriness of human life; its open roof, through which the stars may shine, is reminiscent of an open heart ready to receive the effulgence of God's grace.

The festival concludes with a celebration in honor of the completion of the annual cycle of reading from the Torah, the scroll of the Pentateuch. The last verses of Deuteronomy are read, the scroll is rolled back, and the reading is begun again with the first verses of Genesis.

In Reform Synagogues there is a ceremony of Consecration, in which young children are formally inducted into the religious school.

Revival At East Baptist Church

Rev. J. Clark Hensley, pastor of the Carpenter Street Baptist church in Moberly, will do the preaching in a two weeks revival meeting to begin at the East Sedalia Baptist church on East Fifth street, Monday.



Rev. J. Clark Hensley

There will be day services at the church every morning except Mondays, beginning at 10 o'clock. There will be evening services every night, including Saturday nights. The evening services will begin at 7:30 o'clock. Music for the meeting will be under the direction of William A. Morgan, the choir director. He will be assisted by the combined choirs of church, the adult choir and the youth choir, joining for these services.

The services are open to the public.

There will be a public ordination service at the church at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, when three deacons will be ordained.

Murder In Paradise

By MARGUERITE GAHAGAN

Copyright, 1941, NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Friendly, high-spirited Maudie O'Connor, her Scottie, Finn McCool, and her school teacher daughter, Mary, enjoy a week of quiet vacation at Paradise Lake before their discovery of the murdered body of sophisticated Herbert Cord spells trouble. Instead of phoning the police from elderly Chris Gordon's inn, Maudie goes on to the home of prim Miss Millie Morris and the pretty niece, Jeanie Morris, whom local resorters had believed engaged to Cord until he came to the lake this year with a fiancee, Margie Dixon. Both Miss Millie and Jeanie had reason to hate Cord. Mary, the next day, wonders about a lucky piece her mother has acquired.

MARGIE VS. JEANIE

CHAPTER IV

IT was just as well that I had come for the mail because the little white frame inn on the beach at the end of the grove was anything but a scene of rustic quiet. The room where one could get ice cream and pop was doing a rushing business. Cottagers who ordinarily only came on a Saturday night were there now and it wasn't even noon. Maudie would have had a field day. I shuddered to think of the dynamite she might have planted.

I collected the papers and some letters and started out when Dr. Orway got up from a table near the door and came toward me. We sat down and he asked me how I felt.

"My knees still shake when I think of last night," I confessed, "and being only human, I'm wondering about a lot of things. This is my first contact with a murder and I don't think I enjoy it, but my feminine curiosity is bothering me."

"We're all curious," he said with that old-fashioned country doctor courtliness that went with his bushy iron gray hair and kind but piercing gray eyes.

"Murder," he said briefly. "He was shot. The police have the bullet and it will be examined, but until they find the weapon they won't have much to go on. A nasty business," he added, shaking his head.

"Did he have any known enemies?" I tried not to act too curious.

"He's been coming here for about three years, but despite that no one seems to know a lot about him. He was congenial—liked to fish; sailed a bit in the races when someone wanted an extra man; danced, which made him popular with the women; played a good game of cards, and was accepted because Jeanie cared for him.

"Well, Jeanie must have known him better than anyone else around here—that is, except Miss Dixon, who's collapsed. Made a lot of wild accusations. Hysterical, of course, but damaging."

"You mean things that would involve Jeanie?" My hunch had been right, then. That brown-haired child with blue eyes would be hurt.

He nodded. "I've known her since she was a little girl in pigtails," he said. "Miss Millie was always a strict woman. Well intentioned, but she never remembered that girls grow up and want something besides weekly teas with a group of old people." He pulled out his old-fashioned silver watch and looked at it. "Going to the inquest, I suppose?"

* * *

I SAID I hadn't been told to go, but I supposed both Maudie and I would be called since we had found the body. He left then, but I stayed a few moments, sipping my gingerale and listening to the broken threads of conversation around me.

"You heard them arguing," a pretty girl, deeply tanned, said. "I was right there with you. Herb wanted to invite Jeanie to a picnic he and Margie were planning. Jeanie was in the other room buying some cigarets and Margie was telling Herb not to ask her to go. I remember she said to him, 'What are you trying to do, play one against the other?' Herb laughed and asked her if she was jealous and Margie certainly didn't think that was funny."

The rest of the crowd at the table nodded in agreement. "Then Jeanie came back," she continued, "and Herb asked her if she could be ready by 10 o'clock. . . . Why, that would be this morning, wouldn't it? Jeanie looked a bit surprised, and before she could answer Margie told her off.

"'I hope you won't think I'm rude, dear,' she said in that drawling tone she uses when she wants to impress us, 'but I sort of want Herbert all to myself tomorrow.' Jeanie got white, and Herb became simply furious. I'd never seen him really mad before, but he was mad then and he and Margie said some nasty things to each other and Jeanie stood a moment just looking at them. Then she went away. She never said a word, but she didn't look like herself, and of course she knew everyone had heard what they had said."

And everyone had heard what the tanned, leggy thing had said, too, I decided, looking around the room.

"Miss Millie'll put the clamps on her tighter than ever after this," one of the boys said.

"Say, maybe the old woman's breaking down," another of the girls added. "Dick and I were coming home last night about 11 and lo and behold, who do we see but Miss Millie walking along the road toward home. In that long black skirt she looked like a witch."

"If you saw all that on Pine road, then Dick must be losing his technique," someone else said, and the whole group burst into laughter.

OVER behind the little counter that served as a bar I noticed that Chris Gordon, the hotel owner, wasn't smiling. I suppose he got rather tired of summer romances and these flip young things who either roared up and down the quiet roads or parked in the shadows. He probably wasn't any too pleased either about the murder of one of his guests. He advertised the inn as being quiet and restful and murder wouldn't do that ad any good.

I picked up the letters and remembered we needed stamps. I went up to him and while he was picking them from the cigar box under the desk I asked him how Miss Dixon was feeling. "It must have been a decided shock to her," I said. "It was to me and I didn't even know the man."

"You and your mother found him, didn't you?" he asked, and I noticed that despite his calmness he was having a time picking those sticky bits of paper apart as he counted them out.

"Yes," I said, and then, "There'll be an inquest, I suppose? Motives, cause of death, suspects, clews—"

"Guess the police haven't much to go on." He gave me the stamps and fished around for change.

"Oh, things always turn up," I said. "Once they learn about the man—I mean his background—why, the police usually get a lead." I sounded very smug and knowing. "I mean in other murders that's the way it works out. They always find clews — insignificant things we wouldn't bother with."

He didn't seem disposed to talk and he still hadn't answered my question about Margie Dixon. I suppose he had been pestered by dozens already today and I felt a little ashamed at my own display of curiosity. Maudie herself couldn't have been more nosey, I thought, going back to the cottage, but I didn't have long to consider my own reactions because when I arrived I found Maudie giving an interview to a young man. She was telling him all about her discovery of Herbert Cord's body.

Gibraltar Guards Vital Gate to Mediterranean

A NARROW rock which juts two and one-half miles into the sea forms one of Britain's vital defense links against the axis.

Mighty Gibraltar, guarding the western gateway to the Mediterranean, subjects all traffic to British approval. No ship could safely run its gantlet of guns.

A British Crown Colony since 1713, this imposing fortress, affectionately known as "The Rock," has a population of more than 20,000 people.

Gibraltar issues its own philatelic paper. The 1938 stamp above, one of the Coronation Series, honors King George VI and pictures the Rock from the north side.

Britain has fortified Gibraltar steadily since Sir George Rooke seized it as a crown colony in 1704 during the war of Spanish Succession. Natural caves deep in the rocks and innumerable tunnels store food, ammunition and serve as air-raid shelters.

Cannon command the straits in all directions from a series of levels. Breakwaters and moles enclose the harbor as a naval base. Miles of jetties, docks and naval facilities are tempting targets for airplanes and land-based artillery in Morocco and Algeciras, Spain, four and a half miles across the Bay of Gibraltar.

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT announces the new 50-cent orange airmail stamp will be placed on first-day sale Oct. 29 at St. Louis, Mo.

India has overprinted four values of the 1937 King George VI issue for official use in Jhind. The stamps are overprinted "Jhind State Service." Values so treated are: 1 rupee, 2r, 5r and 10r.

In commemoration of A. Francisco Morazan, liberal leader in its fight for united government, Honduras has issued a 1-centavo stamp in brown.

Salvador has issued a stamp set to publicize its coffee industry. Designed for airmail use, the values are: 15-centavos, yellow-brown; 20c green; 25c violet; 30c brown; and 1-colon black. Imprint is "El Cafe de el Salvador es el mejor del Mundo." (The coffee of Salvador is the best in the world.")

Two Way Design

This is such an interesting, satisfactory style for miss 2 to 6 that our pattern (No. 8854) shows you two ways to make it. One, with the straight edge turn down collar—smart for school in new cottons, wool crepes, serge or flannel. The other, with scalloped collar,, for velveteen, velvet or silk crepe as an adorable party frock. For both versions you'll find this one of the most becoming styles you can make for a little girl.

Pattern No. 8854 is designed in uneven sizes 2 to 6 years. Size 3 takes 1⅝ yards 35-inch material, ⅜ yard contrast for collar.

Butter Prices In Decline

CHICAGO, Oct. 10—(AP)—Butter prices broke sharply in their widest decline of the year in the wholesale market here today.

With losses ranging from one-fourth to 2 cents, the Dairy Products Marketing Association, government financed price supporting agency, acted to halt the retreat. The agency purchased 199,206 pounds of 89 score butter, the Chicago Mercantile Exchange reported.

Ninety-two score butter sold at 34½ cents a pound, down 2 cents, and at the lowest level since August 8.

High Wages To Zinc Miners

JOPLIN, Mo., Oct. 10.—Thousands of zinc miners in the tri-state area will receive the highest wages in the history of the field as a result of new zinc prices.

Miners work on a sliding contract scale and their wages will go up 75 cents a day as a result of yesterday's announcement of $6.70 a ton increase in zinc prices.

The price increase followed announcement in Washington that the price of slab zinc was to be increased one cent a pound.

The advance set the price of ore at $55.28 a ton compared with $48.58 last week. It is the highest price in the tri-state region since 1926.

Minimum Wage Order Reported

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—(AP)—An order for a minimum wage of 40 cents an hour in the shoe industry, increasing the pay of about 96,000 workers, will be issued in a few days by Brigadier-General Philip B. Fleming, administrator of the wage-hour division.

The order will become effective on Nov. 3, Fleming said today.

Approximately 250,000 workers are employed in the industry covered by the new wage minimum, the highest that can be established under the wage-hour act.

The industry has been operating under a 35-cent minimum. The number of workers whose pay will be boosted, federal officials say, in the shoe producing areas follows:

New England, 36,000; middle west, 24,000; middle Atlantic states, 30,000.... and southern states 5,000.

Warning to Mothers:

WORMS CAN CAUSE TROUBLE

Learn the truth! Anybody, anywhere, can have roundworms. And they can cause great distress inside your child without your even knowing what is wrong.

Many pale, nervous, underweight children have bowel worms. Other innocent-looking warning signs are uneasy stomach, fidgeting, itchy seat, nose-picking.

Don't take chances with roundworms! Get Jayne's Vermifuge today! It is America's best known proprietary worm medicine — used by millions, for over a century. Jayne's expels stubborn roundworms, yet acts gently. If there are no worms, it works just as a mild laxative. Insist on Jayne's Vermifuge.

FDR Urges Congress To Act Quickly On Neutrality Law

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9—(AP)—President Roosevelt asserting it was time for the United States to "stop playing into Hitler's hands, and to unshackle our own," urged Congress today to revise the Neutrality Act speedily to permit the arming of American merchant vessels.

In a special message he also left the door open for further revision later to wipe out another major prohibition, that preventing American cargo ships from travel to belligerent ports.

Saying that Adolf Hitler "has offered a challenge which we as Americans can not and will not tolerate," the president said:

"We will not let Hitler prescribe the waters of the world on which our ships may travel. The American flag is not going to be driven from the seas either by his submarines, his airplanes, or his threats.

Must Change Sections

"We can not permit the affirmative defense of our rights to be annulled and diluted by sections of the Neutrality Act which have no realism in the light of unscrupulous ambition of madmen.

"We Americans have determined our course.

"We intend to maintain the policy of protecting the freedom of the seas against domination by any foreign power which has become crazed with a desire to control the world. We shall do so with all our strength and all our heart and all our mind."

Administration leaders moved rapidly to implement the president's message, introducing bills in both houses to repeal the Neutrality Act provision against arming of American merchant vessels.

Resolutions Offered

Resolutions offered in the Senate by Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) of the Foreign Relations committee and in the House by Chairman Bloom (D-N.Y.) of the foreign affairs group would specifically authorize the president during the period of national emergency to arm or permit the arming of American merchantmen.

Declaring it was obvious that world conditions had changed violently since the first Neutrality Act was passed in 1935, the president said:

"The revisions which I suggest do not call for a declaration of war any more than the Lend-Lease Act called for a declaration of war. This is a matter of essential defense of American rights."

Imperative Need

Mr. Roosevelt said it was an "imperative need now to equip American merchant vessels with arms."

Even before the message appeared demands arose in the Senate that modification of the law go beyond a rescinding of the ban against arming merchantmen.

"We are faced," the president said in his message, "not only with the old type of pirates but with the modern pirates of the sea who travel beneath the surface or on the surface or in the air destroying defenseless ships without warning and without provision for the safety of the passengers and crews."

Provisions Were Crippling

Removal of the armed ship ban, Mr. Roosevelt said, was not more important than some other crippling provisions in the present act, but anxiety for the safety of our crews and the almost priceless goods that are within the holds of our ships leads me to recommend that you, with all speed, strike the prohibition against arming our ships from the statute books."

He then continued: "There are other phases of the Neutrality Act to the correction of which I hope the Congress will give earnest and early attention. One of these provisions is of major importance.

"I believe that it is essential to the proper defense of our country that we cease giving the definite assistance which we are now giving to the aggressors. For, in effect, we are inviting their control of the seas by keeping our ships out of the ports of our own friends.

Time To Stop Playing

"It is time for this country to stop playing into Hitler's hands and to unshackle our own."

The president said that most of the vital goods authorized by Congress in the Lend-Lease Act were being delivered to Hitler's enemies, yet many were being sent to the bottom of the ocean. As this country approaches full production requiring the use of more ships now being built, he added, it would be "increasingly necessary to deliver American goods under the American flag."

"We can not, and should not," he continued, "depend on the strained resources of the exiled nations of Norway and Holland to deliver our goods nor should we be forced to masquerade American-owned ships behind the flags of our sister republics.

Asks For Action

"I earnestly trust that the Congress will carry out the true intent of the Lend-Lease Act by making it possible for the United States to help deliver the articles to those who are in a position effectively to use them. In other words, I ask for Congressional action to implement congressional policy. Let us be consistent."

Asserting Hitler was marshaling all his resources, mechanical force, and manpower to crush both Russia and Britain and that the fuehrer was "racing against time," he said:

"Therefore, it is our duty, as never before, to extend more and more assistance and ever more swiftly to Britain, to Russia, to all peoples and individuals fighting slavery. We must do this without fear or favor. The ultimate fate of the western hemisphere lies in the balance."

Shoots Friend Who Found Another Girl

NEW YORK, Oct. 9—(AP)—A farewell kiss and three revolver shots marked the end of a five-year romance in Brooklyn today.

The girl, a 24 year old factory worker, was accused of shooting her sweetheart while kissing him goodbye in a darkened hallway shortly after midnight because he had told her he had found another girl.

While the young man, Gus Scaletta, 27, a navy yard welder, was receiving blood transfusions for critical abdomen wounds, the girl was booked on a charge of felonious assault and unlawful possession of a weapon.

William R. Foley, investigator for District Attorney William O'Dwyer, said the girl, Mary Cintorino, related this account of the shooting.

After the two returned from a Manhattan movie, Scaletta told her that he would see her no more, that he had another sweetheart She backed to a place in the hallway where she had hidden a pistol which she said she had found on the street sometime ago. As she kissed him, she pointed the pistol and fired, striking Scaletta twice in the abdomen and once in the right arm.

Patrolmen Hubert Montella and Joseph Manzo said they found her holding his head in her lap and sobbing. "I shot him. He was going to leave me."

At the hospital, the wounded man's sister, Mrs Carrie Delissio told police that Scaletta whispered to her: "Please don't be too hard on Mary. I won't talk against her."

Attendants said his condition was critical.

Highlights Of President's Special Message

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9—(AP)—Pertinent sentences from President Roosevelt's message to Congress asking revision of the Neutrality Act:

The pattern of the future—the future as Hitler seeks to shape it—is now as clear and as ominous as the headlines of today's newspaper.

The revisions (to the Neutrality Act) which I suggest do not call for a declaration of war any more than the Lend-Lease Act called for a declaration of war. This is a matter of essential defense of American rights.

We know now that Hitler recognizes no limitation on any zone of combat in any part of the seven seas. He has struck at our ships and at the lives of our sailors within the waters of the western hemisphere.

It is time for this country to stop playing into Hitler's hands and to unshackle our own.

We will not let Hitler prescribe the waters of the world on which our ships may travel. The American flag is not going to be driven from the seas either by his submarines, his airplanes or his threats.

Farm Leaders Discuss U. S. Defense Needs

State Agriculture Production Must Be Increased

The United States in 1942 will need a higher speed of agriculture production than ever before, C. W. Sheppard, chairman of the Missouri defense board, told a large group of farm leaders attending a meeting designed to acquaint them with agricultural defense needs, at the Pettis county court house Wednesday.

"The present job is to find out what agricultural products are needed, and then to supply the amount needed at the time needed," Sheppard told more than fifty agriculture leaders attending.

15 Per Cent Increase

A demand will be made on agriculture for a fifteen per cent increase above the normal production and this drain must be taken care of without abuse of the land, Sheppard explained. The majority of this increase will go to American people, but a part will be sent to the allies resisting aggression.

The United States must lay away huge stocks of non-perishable food to use in times of emergency, in order that the lack of proper foods will not occur here as it did in Europe, just after the beginning of the war, Sheppard continued.

The defense board chairman emphasized the importance of the combined jobs of all agencies of the department of agriculture in getting this information to farmers, and giving them an estimate of how great an amount of their agricultural products will be needed during the year.

Bruce C. Claycomb, Hughesville, chairman of the Pettis county USDA defense board, presided over the session as chairman. F. E. Rogers, Columbia, district extension agent, extended the scope of Sheppard's talk by listing some of the agricultural needs caused by the defense program.

National Goals Set

National goals have been set up by the USDA by means of county surveys and a survey of the necessary committments that must be made to the allies, Rogers told the leaders. To this was added the amount of the reserves now on hand in United States larders These combined surveys gave the department an estimate of the future needs of the country, enabling them to "steer their course" and to make preparations by that list.

National goals to be reached by farmers all over the country were set at the National USDA meeting in Chicago last week, and these were divided into goals for each state. The state boards, in turn, have made decisions as to what the quota of each county should be in livestock and crop production. Each county office will set up an estimate of what products can be supplied and to what extent. Goals will be given out by the county defense board later.

Explains Action

Charles Defebaugh, district fieldman for the AAA, closed the day's discussion by explaining a course of action which will be taken by the defense board in order to reach the standards set by the national board.

Pettis countians attending the session included William Murphy, assistant county extension agent; John Baker, of the soil conservation service; E. E Brasfield, district supervisor of the farm security administration; Oscar DeWolf, county farm security supervisor; Miss Virginia Lee Slusher, farm security home supervisor; Miss Mary Johnson, district home management supervisor for the FSA; Edward Heffernan, acting member of the production credit association board of directors; Miss Dorothy Bacon, home demonstration agent and C. E. Ferguson, vice-chairman of the county Triple A committee.

Mrs. George Fichter, county farm field woman, displayed a number of foods that is needed by the government, eggs, powdered eggs, canned tomatoes, tomato juice, canned green beans, canned green peas and canned sweet corn, cured pork and dairy products. She explained the need for food with the greatest nourishing value, in small packages, food that can be shipped.

Hall Of Waters Flooded Today

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo., Oct. 9—(AP)—A flash flood on Fishing Creek sent 20 feet of water into the two lower floors of the Hall of Waters at this health resort today.

It was the first time since 1903 that the small stream had flooded the park where the million dollar Hall of Waters was completed 3 years ago. The flooded floors are below ground level and water will have to be pumped out.

Many New State Laws Go Into Effect

By DON DOANE

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 9—(AP)—Don't argue with the bartender tonight when he shoos you out the tavern door at 1:30 a. m., and don't throw any stink bombs tomorrow.

Because at midnight tonight about 150 new laws, passed by the recent general assembly, will go into effect.

One of those laws says taverns must not only quit selling drinks but must lock their doors on empty tables promptly at 1:30 a. m., on week nights and midnight Saturday.

Another makes it a misdemeanor to toss a stink bomb.

Fixed By Statute

The October 10 effective date for 1941 legislative acts is fixed by statute—90 days after adjournment of the general assembly, which quit July 12. The only exceptions among the 209 bills passed were appropriations and measures bearing emergency clauses which put them into operation immediately upon being signed by the governor.

Among those welcoming the new laws will be the county superintendents of schools, who will receive pay raises ranging from $750 to $1,590 a year for acting as "supervisors of transportation" and school bus inspectors.

Some county treasurers won't be so glad. They'll have to take a pay cut if the salaries the legislature fixed are smaller than the ones the county court allowed them before the state established the size of their pay checks by statute Those county clerks, whose pay was upped by the general assembly, will have to wait until their next term to collect because the constitution bars pay hikes during their present term of office.

Increase Compensation

One new law will increase the amounts jobless workers can collect in unemployment compensation and also relieve employers of having to pay payroll taxes on workers' salaries above $3,000 a year—changes estimated to mean $2,500,000 a year to employers and workers alike.

The liquor law enforcement staff goes on the merit system tomorrow under an act requiring half the agents to be Republicans and half Democrats—and all of them to pass competitive examinations. Most agents already have been appointed.

Here are some of the other laws going into effect tomorrow:

A secret ballot law requiring ballot numbers to be covered by a sticker.

Barring anyone but officials from access to the social security rolls—a provision required by the federal government.

Providing for blood tests for syphilis in expectant mothers—unless the woman objects.

Exempting Fees

Exempting out-of-state trucks from Missouri public service commission fees if the trucks operate only in this state's border cities.

Authorizing political committees to fill vacancies in their own ranks which formerly were filled by the governor.

Preventing party committees from nominating general election candidates unless their party had a primary candidate for that office who was removed from the November ticket by resignation or death.

Protecting racing or carrier pigeons.

Just Like That!

WILKENSBURG, Pa.—To demonstrate the durability of a $49.50 rug, a furniture store placed it on the sidewalk and invited passersby to walk on it.

Several were doing so when a man in overalls asked them to step aside. He rolled up the rug, hoisted it to his shoulder and walked away.

At the store's request, police are hunting for him.

Dead Man Returns

WOODBURY, N. J.—Surrogate's court has a puzzler—a man it declared legally dead a year ago has entered claim to his brother's estate.

Christopher Chesney, 65, told the court he was smitten with the wanderlust after his wife died in 1930. Last year his daudghters testified they had tried to find him without success, and the court acted.

He came back upon learning of his brother's death.

Stock Sales In Factory To $10,000

Facts Given On Men Who Will Be In Charge Here

Sales of stock in the Sedco Shoe factory rose to nearly the half way mark last night as more reports were turned in by the sales committees appointed by the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce last week. A total of $10,000 has been reported thus far, and this excludes the reports of some of the committees.

With pledges that have been made, the total amounts to about $13,000. Confidence that the necessary amount of $25,000 worth of stock will be sold before the deadline of October 15 was expressed last night by Ernest C. Martin, chairman of the sale committee.

A desire to have the Sedalia factory in operation by December 1 has been expressed by officials of the Tober-Saifer company of St. Louis, in order to meet the spring rush, and construction work on the building will be started soon with funds provided by two Sedalia business men.

Inexpensive Shoes

The factory will manufacture inexpensive women's shoes which will sell equally well the year around. The St. Louis company has offered to purchase a large amount of the shoes manufactured, and a certain amonut will be provided through Sedalia stores.

Those In Charge

Sedalians are interested in the men who will be at the head of the factory and in order that they may have knowledge of the men, and something of their background, Ellsworth Green, secretary of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, prepared the following statements:

Sales Management: Richard J. Parnell, who will be president and treasurer of the company, has been actively engaged in the shoe business for over twenty years. During these many years he has been associated with the International Shoe Company as sales representative; Montgomery Ward and Company as merchandise manager; department manager, Sears, Roebuck and Company; sales and promotion manager Wohl Shoe Company, and is at present general sales manager Tober-Saifer Shoe Company. He has access and working knowledge of most of the country's largest retail organizations in every section of the United States and has made tentative arrangements for the organization necessary to sell the company's product.

Years Of Experience

Factory Supervisor: Max Wolkowitz, of St. Louis, Mo., who will be the superintendent of the company has had years of experience in supervising and the actual manufacturing of shoes of various grades. Since August, 1939, under the name of Beacon Shoe Company, he has manufactured and specialized in the arch type shoe that the Sedco Shoe Company will manufacture. The shoes made by his company have had ready acceptance by the largest retail shoe organizations. His operations have been economical as well as having the ability of style sense and has had experience in buying the raw materials for manufacturing, as fell as mechanical ability necessary in supervising a plant of this type.

Everett Perry Pleads Guilty

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Oct. 9—(AP)—Everett R. Perry, 27, of Sedalia, former army sergeant discharged from Camp Robinson, Ark., for conduct unbecoming a soldier, pleaded guilty in federal court here today to impersonating an army officer in making fraudulent pleas for funds "to aid Britain."

Perry admitted to Federal Judge Albert L. Reeves that he had worn his uniform to Clinton, Aurora and Crane, Mo., enlisting boy and girl scouts and school children to help him raise money. Amounts ranged from $17 collected at Aurora to about $118 at Clinton, which he said he used himself. He denied an accusation by District Attorney Otto Schmid that he had fraudently raised $100 at Sedalia.

He was sentenced to two years at El Reno, Okla. reformatory on one count of the indictment, and was put under five years probation on the second count.

Thirteen Injured In Bus Accident

CHANUTE, Kas., Oct. 9—(AP)—Ten of 13 persons injured in a bus accident near Morehead yesterday remained in a hospital for treatment today but none was reported in a serious condition.

The Greyhound bus, en route from Kansas City to Tulsa, overturned on a sharp turn.

Hitler's Press Says Soviet Union Is Militarily Finished

By The Associated Press

Adolf Hitler's press chief declared today that "The Soviet Union is militarily finished" and that the 110-day-old war on the eastern front was virtually decided, with nearly 1,000,000 Red army troops caught in two vast encirclements in the German drive on Moscow.

The sensational pronouncement, which was not elaborated by any details of specific land gains, came from Dr. Otto Dietrich arriving in Berlin direct from the fuehrer's eastern front headquarters.

"From the springs of the Volga to the Sea of Azov," he asserted, "remnants of Soviet armies everywhere are in retreat."

Story Not Confirmed

The Berlin radio broadcast a Shanghai dispatch quoting "Soviet quarters" as reporting that the Russian government was fleeing Moscow. There was no confirmation elsewhere.

Keyed with Nazi claims of triumph, the Germans published a special order of the day issued by Hitler a week ago at the start of the new offensive, declaring:

"Today (Thursday, Oct. 2) begins the last great, decisive battle of this year. It will hit the enemy destructively and with it the instigator of the entire war, England herself.

"For if we crush this opponent, we also remove the last English ally on the continent."

Herald Reports

A special high command bulletin, heralded by a fanfare of trumpets over the German radio, declared Russia's battered Red armies had not a single division left fully fit for battle on the entire front.

"Attacked from the rear by strong armored forces, three enemy armies must expect their annihilation also in the area of Bryansk," the Nazi high command said.

"Together with units already encircled at Vyazma, Marshal Timoshenko has here sacrificed the last fully able armies of the total Soviet front."

Bryansk is 220 miles southwest of Moscow, Vyazma 125 miles west of the U. S. S. R. capital. They are about 130 miles apart.

Divisions Bottled Up

Dr. Dietrich said between 60 and 70 Russian divisions — 900,000 to 1,050,000 troops — were hopelessly bottled up in the Bryansk and Vyazma sectors, facing imminent annihilation.

Once their destruction has been completed, he asserted, "the campaign will develop when and how we wish."

To Britain, he added this warning:

"Let the English attempt a landing in Norway, Holland, Belgium or the French coast and they will learn what reserves we still have."

While the Germans thus proclaimed a climatic turning-point in the world's greatest military campaign, the Russians acknowledged they had withdrawn from Orel, key town 68 miles southeast of Bryansk, on the Moscow-Kharkov railroad, but gave no intimation of impending collapse.

Resisting Strongly

Russian troops were reported resisting strongly north of Orel after a 3-day battle in which they first abandoned the town, recaptured it and finally withdrew again under pressure by numerically superior Nazi forces.

A mid-day Red army bulletin said Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's forces on the central front were still battling fiercely against the Nazi juggernaut in the Bryansk and Vyazma sectors.

Tass, the official Russian news agency, indicated that Soviet troops still held Vyazma.

Russian warplanes, the news agency said, "concentrated heavy blows on enemy tank columns which managed to break through" in that sector and "struck telling blows at one such column proceeding toward Vyazma."

Civilians Fighting Too

Russian civilians were now reported fighting shoulder-to-shoulder with Red army soldiers to stem the Nazi smash toward Moscow.

A German pilot said snow was falling behind the front lines, spreading a thin layer over the Russian steppes.

"The German command is throwing into the battle division after division," a Soviet bulletin said.

"Our units are putting up fierce resistance to the Fascist troops and are striking heavy blows at the enemy."

Considering Changes Of Credit Laws

Decision From Reserve Board Expected Soon

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9—(AP)—Another twist on the screws holding down consumer installment credit appeared to be imminent today.

Authoritative indications from the federal reserve board were that minimum down payments might be increased and maximum time to pay the balance might be reduced on some articles.

The reserve board was said to be studying this question earnestly and getting ready for a decision within the next 10 days.

The present regulations apply only to instalment purchases of 24 types of goods, ranging from both new and used automobiles to new furniture and radios. The rules specify what percentage of the purchase price should be paid down — for instance, 33⅓ per cent on automobile and 10 per cent on furniture — and how long a time should be allowed to pay the balance — 18 months in each case under present rules.

Car Deals Studied

One change being studied would plug up what some officials consider a loophole in the down payment rules. The present regulations permit a person to borrow the price of a new car or other article from a bank or finance company and then to escape the down payment restriction by paying that cash to the dealer or merchant.

If a man buys a $900 car from a dealer on time, he must pay at least $300 down. But if he goes to a bank and borrows $900 he can pay the dealer the full amount. In this case, he makes no down payment but owes the bank $900 instead of owing the dealer $600 after making a $300 down payment.

The board may require banks and others who make cash loans to get written promises, from borrowers that the loans will not be used to evade the down payment rules. Apparently, the board is not considering any change in that part of its regulations which exempt altogether consumer purchases on open credit or charge accounts.

Question Present Effort

Impetus for stiffening the present credit terms on automobiles, radios and such items was said to come from several officials who doubt whether the first regulations, which became effective Sept. 1, have had any restrictive effect on public buying habits.

Some officials took the view the initial rules were made intentionally easy so that the public and the stores could get acquainted with the idea without too much difficulty.

The rules were intended, the officials continued, to reduce public demand for certain articles which used up materials, labor and factory capacity that are needed for defense. Now, they said, is the time to tighten the rules and get closer to this objective.

Transportation Tax Effective

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9—(AP)—The cost of travel will go up 5 per cent at midnight tonight because of a new federal tax.

The transportation tax was included in the recent big tax bill, but the effective date was made 10 days later than other excise provisions.

The tax is 5 per cent of the amount paid for passenger travel on a railroad, bus line, air line, ship route. Ordinarily it will not apply to local busses and street cars, because tickets costing less than 35 cents are exempt. Taxicabs are exempt, too, because the tax applies only to transportation over regularly scheduled routes.

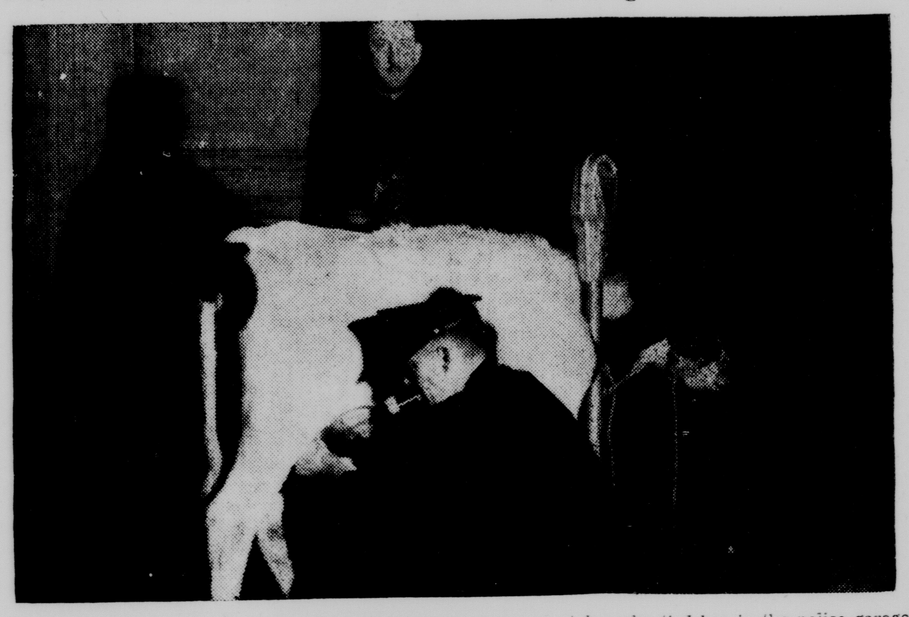
A similar tax of 8 per cent was levied during the world war, but then a 3 per cent tax also was placed on freight transportation which is exempt this time.

Lawyer Dies From Injuries

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 9—(AP)—George E. Woodruff, 48, Trenton, Mo., attorney, died today in a Columbia hospital of automobile accident injuries.

His car and a gasoline truck collided near here last night. His children, Dorothy and William Robert Woodruff, and Lavon Reynolds, of Columbia, riding with them, were injured only slightly Another daughter Phyllis Jean Woodruff, a University of Missouri student, also survives.

Police Officer Milks Cow at 3 O'clock This Mor ning



At 3 o'clock in the morning Officer Lawrence Pauley was walking the Ohio street beat. At the corner of Third and Ohio he met a young heifer, roaming around the Third National Bank corner. A little chase followed and Officer Pauley cornered the cow in the door of the bank building.

A call for assistance was made to police headquarters. Officer John Henry Brooks hurried to the scene with a rope which he fastened to the cow, that had stubbornly stopped at a parking meter. Officer Nichols and John O'Brien came along and gave assistance in moving of the animal.

In the picture is "Miss Bossie" contently standing on the sidewalk while Officer Brooks is doing a "sneak" on the milking end, and Officer Nichols is giving some first hand supervision on "how it's done."

Later the cow was escorted to police headquarters by Pauley who tied her in the police garage. Later Pauley wanted to show his prize catch to Night Chief of Police Finnell and Officer Bill Burger, and was astonished to find "Miss Bossie" had departed, leaving the rope halter. The cow was found later on the market square chewing what little grass grows around the parking posts on the lot.

This noon E. L. Busker, Main street and Park avenue, claimed the missing animal.

Game, Grim and Gray

The crack of the bat, the thud of the punter's toe against the football—in these things, in the autumn of this year 1941, Americans are still blessedly permitted to be interested. The world series, the opening games of the football season, these hold briefly our attention, while across the world people watch and play their parts in a grimmer game.

Does it seem irresponsible for a great nation to rivet its attention on the hop of a sharp-hit baseball or the spiral flight of a deftly tossed forward pass, while there is being fought what may prove to have been the bloodiest battle the world has ever seen?

* * *

We think not. In spite of wars, revolutions, and all the tumults of the social organization, life must go on. No one can forget Carlyle's vivid picture of how in Paris, during the most shocking horrors of the Reign of Terror, thousands went the ways of their daily life quite heedless of all these things. The pitcher must go to the well, and the clothes must go to the laundry in the face of the greatest and most world-shaking events.

Business can't be "as usual," and life can't be "as usual" in these days. The overwhelming stark fact of war throws its shadow over every activity of man throughout the world. Yet man is so constituted that in the face of the most overpowering disasters, he grasps for such pleasures as he can, and finds them good. If British people who may, before any morning's sun rises, be bombed into eternity, can spend those evenings at the movies (and they do) there is no good reason why the people of the United States should not sit cheering in the stands while yet they may. World series and football crowds this fall may well be the greatest of history.

* * *

Get out into the glorious fall weather, then, and cheer your team. Try to put out of your mind for a few hours that other game that is being played with the heart's blood of men and women for a stake no less than the freedom of the world.

Its terrible, unsolved question, its innings not yet played, its outcome not yet determined, will be waiting when you leave the stadium.

The Locusts

It is a weary story now, repeated over and over again, of the way in which the Nazis have stripped like devouring locusts every country into which they have come. As one conquest succeeds another, the same story is told in all its sickening detail.

Potatoes dug, cooked, and canned in the field by mobile apparatus, and shipped off to Germany. Houses stripped bare, even the door handles, window fastenings, and bathroom fixtures taken. Private vegetable gardens enumerated and confiscated even before the vegetables were ripe. Everything usable, everything movable, stripped and sent away to Germany. And all meticulously paid for—at one-eighth of the price in funny money which is virtually of no value at all.

Nobody can say the rest of the world wasn't warned.

By Opposing, End Them

The United States is squarely up against a Hamlet's choice in the matter of small industry: whether to lie back and moan that small industry is to be crushed in the empact of the defense program, or to get in and do something about it—"to take arms against a sea of troubles and by opposing, end them."

A start has been made at Manitowoc, Wis., town of aluminum pots and pans manufacture, hard hit by priorities which denied it accustomed aluminum. OPM went after that problem, which was acute, and has already awarded an experimental defense contract to one Manitowoc plant. Others are in preparation for other aluminum plants, and Floyd Odlum is going into action against the whole situation. The plight of small industry is serious. It need not be fatal if a determined fight is made in its behalf.

Because the League of Nations was incapable of appreciating the motive that compelled our country to move into Manchuria, we withdrew from this organization.—Lieut. Gen. Eiki Tojo, Japanese Army.

The greatest mistake of the social reformers is the over-simplification of the problem and the cure.—President George Barton Cutten, Colgate university.

Politics And The Army

The relationship between the ordinary civil and political life of an American and his life as a soldier is interesting. In the early days of the Republic, a sharp line was drawn against political activity by soldiers because of fear that a military clique might gain political power.

But great mass armies in the wars since 1860 produced a different picture. Men in France didn't vote because it just wasn't practical. But with today's army most states now provide for voting by their soldiers. The War Department is now providing also for soldiers to run for office under certain circumstances, especially those who were in office when inducted and who wish to seek re-election.

Generally speaking it would probably not be wise to allow active soldiers to mix actively in politics. Under exceptional circumstances, however, the War Department is probably doing well to make exceptions.

Pepping Up

The great American hen is going to have to do her bit.

Fifty billion eggs is the goal for 1942 in place of the mere 42,000,000,000 that rolled from the hen houses in 1941. Something will have to be done to pep up the poultry.

Electric lights in the hen houses might do it, but there's the power shortage to be considered. Just how to appeal to a hen's better nature we'll have to leave to the experts.

But it's too bad they can't be patiently told the fate of the hens of Europe. They all wound up months ago in the stew pots of the German army.

Car Collides With Truck

George Wheatling, 713 South Engineer avenue, driving a coach Saturday night, drove out from the curb in the 200 block on South Ohio avenue and collided with a truck going north on Ohio, driven by Mrs. Ollie Burton, 1815 South Grand avenue. A fender on a car owned by Dalton White, of Iowa, was also struck in the accident, in which the coach was slightly damaged.

Parlor Car Overhauled At Sedalia Shops

Modernized And Fitted Up With Fine Equipment

Another link was made in the long chain of the fast, ever-growing fleet of up-to-date first-class equipment being put into service by the Missouri Pacific railroad when parlor car 10612 was released for service Friday after undergoing a complete overhauling and modernizing at the local passenger car shops.

This car, which has an overall length of 84 feet and six inches has a parlor room, one stateroom, one ladies' dressing room and one men's dressing room.

The entire interior of the car was remodeled and equipped with Multi-vent hinged air distributing panels, with each panel being equipped with what is known as Dzus type button directly below control adjusting screw. This is in order that these panels may be taken down and the air condition equipment cleaned in about 30 minutes.

The car is also equipped with the Hunter extruded aluminum dehydrated double sash with satin finish.

Another popular feature of the car is that it is equipped with Flurscent lighting fixtures and with six lights in the ceiling of the car and with individual lights over each seat.

In the parlor room are 12 revolving, reclining parlor car chairs, upholstered with "Chevelaire" quality and of rust color. Also eight chairs of the same type but of a green color. They are cushioned with cushion rubber, including arm rests. The backs are cushioned with springs.

The interior is painted in a harmonious color combination and with the space utilization and a green rug running the full length of the parlor room, it makes one of the most beautiful parlor cars now in service.

The parlor room is equipped with a radio and a writing desk on which is an attractive desk lamp.

In line with the other cars of this type, it is equipped with Waugh-Gould rubber draft gears and with Timken roller bearings.

The work of remodeling this car was under the supervision of H. M. Kelly, general car foreman, and G. T. Callender, superintendent of shops. The estimate cost of doing the work is approximately $20,000. The car will be placed in service on one of the main line trains.

Fire Damages State Forests

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4—(AP)—The Agriculture Department estimated today that forest fires burned 150,056 acres of land in Missouri in 1940 and caused damage amounting to approximately $187,395.

The Forest Service made public these figures in announcing National Fire Prevention Week from October 5 to 7.

The announcement said that the nation's 146,749,000 acres of unprotected forest lands suffered fire damage totaling $35,877,000 in 1940.

There were a total of 195,427 forest fires during the last year, compared with 212,671 in 1939 when the damage totaled $40,000,000.

"Unprotected woodland," the report said, "suffered 27 times more burn and 21 times as much damage as protected forest during 1940."

Department foresters estimated that a total expenditure of 18 million dollars would bring all state and private land needing it under organized fire control—"an average of slightly more than four cents an acre, or about half the amount of the present losses."

About 10 million dollars now are available for fire control on state and privately-owned lands in co-operative projects, the Agriculture Department announcement said.

Thirty Days On Car Pilfering

Thirty days and costs of the case were given Sheldon Richardson, a Clinton colored resident, who was caught pilfering automobiles in the vicinity of the Elks club Friday night. He pleaded guilty to Judge C. W. Bente, sitting as ex-officio justice of the peace, who gave the Negro the sentence.

Richardson was caught by Harry Skinner of Hughesville and Ed Smith, 500 Dal-Whi-Mo Court, the owners of two cars which he was rummaging around in and by Newton Foster, porter at the club. Richardson was overpowered by the three and pinned to the ground until the police arrived to take him in hand.

Several automobiles in the past few weeks have been ransacked while parked around the Elks Club but Richardson had no statement to make regarding the robberies.

Versailles

By Mrs. Lloyd Buchanan

Work began last week on the laying of new sidewalks around the courthouse. The new walks will be only half as wide as the old ones, making the streets two or three feet wider. This is a WPA project and property owners here may also get new sidewalks by furnishing the materials. Met Hughes is WPA foreman in charge

Frederick (Pete) Nichols has closed out his stock of groceries and is quitting business. His father, Fred Nichols Sr., operated a grocery store here for a number of years. "Pete" Nichols has operated the store since his father's death. He and his mother will go to the state of California in a few weeks where they will make their home

V. S. Lujin purchased Carl's Oil company this week from Mrs. Fern Egdorf and took possession October 1. Mr. Lujin and son, Virgil will operate the station Mrs Egdorf will leave soon to make her home in Salina, Kansas.

Gregory Stringer, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Stringer south of Versailles, is a patient in the Boonville hospital this week following serious injury when he was struck by a hit-and-run driver on the highway south of here a week ago last Thursday night. He had attended the fair here and was walking home when the car, occupied by two men, hit him and went into a ditch. The car had to be pulled out by another car. Young Stringer lay in the ditch all night, failing in his efforts to attract a passing motorist. He was found early Friday morning and taken to the hospital in the Kidwell ambulance. He was suffering from concussion, double fracture of the left leg and exposure.

Mrs Minnie Goddard, well known resident of Versailles, died suddenly at her home here Wednesday, Oct. 1. She had been in ill health for about a year. Minnie Ellen Love, daughter of Geo. and Laura Love, was born near Versailles on Sept. 20, 1874. She was married on July 11, 1895, to James A. Goddard, who preceded her in death February 23, 1936. She is survived by three daughters and one son, Mrs. George Catron of Eldon, Mrs. Ross Neumeyer of Versailles and Julia and Bill of the home. Surviving also are two sisters, Mrs. S. W. Brisley of Marshall and Mrs. Emma Ramsey of Phoenix, Ariz., and four grandchildren. Funeral services were conducted at the Baptist church here Friday afternoon, Rev. B. F. Kennedy of St. Louis officiating, assisted by Rev. Val B. Strader of the Methodist church.

Gerald Wheat, son of Mrs. Ethel Wheat of Versailles, died at a hospital in Kansas City Thursday after a several weeks illness of mastoid and inner ear trouble. He had been a patient at the Boonville hospital until Wednesday night, when he was removed to Kansas City for special treatment.

Denell Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Smith went to the Great Lakes Naval Training station in Illinois Thursday for a six weeks training course after which he will be sent to another station.

Mrs C. W. Kavanaugh returned home Sunday after a two weeks visit in Lakeland, Fla., with her sister Mrs. J. A. Douglas.

Mrs Hugh Meyer, Jr., has accepted a position as stenographer at the social security office here. She was appointed under the Missouri merit system. Mrs. Meyer has for several months been employed in the office of Probate Judge A. J. Bolinger.

Johnny James, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver James returned to his home here Sunday from the Barnes hospital in St. Louis where he recently underwent a delicate brain operation. He is getting along nicely.

Mr and Mrs. Carl V. West moved their household furnishings Tuesday from the Duff place on North Fisher street to the new Bolinger property in the west part of town.

Mr and Mrs. Ray Williams had as their week end guests her mother, Dr. Elsie Woodin and Mr. and Mrs. Doris Kays of St. Louis who were enroute home from Emily, Minn., where they have been vacationing.

Miss Killion Weds J. T. Stanton

Miss Dorothy Killion, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Killion, 1800 South Warren avenue, and P. F. C. John T. Stanton, son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Stanton, 1620 South Brown avenue, were married quietly in Lexington, S. C. on September 20, 1941.

Witnessing the ceremony were Sergeant William Randold Smith, of Fort Jackson, S. C., and Miss Kathryn Pirsens, of Columbia, S. C.

The bridegroom is in training at Fort Jackson, S. C.

The young couple are at home at 1115 Calhoun, Columbia, S. C.

Marriage Licenses Issued

William George Kunz and Dorothy C. Goosen, both of Lincoln.

William Thomas Solon and Virginia Ann Roach, both of Sedalia.

Commander Of Legion Be In Meeting Here

President Of The Auxiliary Also To Make Visit

Lynn U. Stambaugh, of Fargo, North Dakota, national commander of the American Legion and Mrs. Mark W. Murrill, of Boston, Mass., national president of the American Legion Auxiliary, will make their official visits to Missouri Department, when the adjutants and commanders and presidents and secretaries meet in Sedalia November 15 to 16.

Legionnaires and men interested in the national defense programs will come to Sedalia Sunday November 16 to hear Commander Stambaugh, who has served as chairman of this committee. In 1940-41 he served as chairman of the national rehabilitation committee, and is a member of the American Legion publicity and publishing commission.

In Both Groups

Mrs Murrill has the distinction of being a member of both the Legion and Auxiliary. She served as post service officer in her post, and held various other offices, both state and national in the auxiliary. Her address will be enjoyed by post and auxiliary members alike.

About five hundred visitors are expected to attend the state conference, and the local post and auxiliary are making plans to celebrate them with a banquet at Convention Hall, Liberty Park, Saturday, November 15. It will be served by the Sedalia Council of Parent Teachers, who hope by this method to supply funds for their mutual aid center.

This conference has for many years been held at Jefferson City and this is the first time it has been held elsewhere.

Dr. G. A. Clauson, of Clinton, state commander and Mrs. Harry Mayo, Trenton, state president, have been in Sedalia making arrangements for the meeting.

'Need More Who Own Their Land'

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Four newspaper editors today urged the Catholic church to help develop the farm as a place of security for the growing surplus of population.

Speaking on a symposium featuring the opening day of the annual National Catholic Rural Life Conference, C. V. Gregory of Des Moines, Ia., associate publisher of "Wallace's Farmer," declared:

"The problem of today is not 'how many men can we get along without on the farm' But 'how many can we take care of?' The problem is to find a place for our apparently surplus population."

Wheeler McMillen, Philadelphia, editor of "Farmers Journal and Farmer's wife," warned:

"If there is a danger to the institutions of the United States it lies in the fact that we may be permitting too large a proportion of the people to have too small a stake in the country. We need more people who own their own land."

Kirk Fox, Des Moines, editor of "Successful Farming," and Hubert Smith, Editor of the Denver, Colo., 'Register,' urged the church to support rural community programs and cooperative enterprises.

Robbed Of $8 And Wrist Watch

Held up by about five or six young men in a 1940 green Chevrolet coach or sedan, at Second street and Grand avenue, about 9:30 o'clock Friday night, Joseph Fry, Jr., 17, delivery boy for the Crown Drug company, was robbed of five one dollar bills, three dollars in change and his wrist watch, he told police.

Fry had been told by the men to deliver a camera from the store to them, but store officials refused to let him take it to the car occupants without any guarantee of payment. The boy was riding his bicycle at the intersection of Second and Grand, when the automobile drove alongside, crowding him to the curb.

Gruffly demanding all of the boy's money and his watch, one of the car occupants told him to turn around and not to look while they drove off "if you know what's good for you."

The young man returned to the store and then went to the police station, where he managed to give a fair description of the holdup car. A description of the bandits was broadcast by the State Highway Patrol station at Lees Summitt.

Boys And Girls Give Program Before Circle

Boys and girls of the 4-H clubs of the Van Natta community presented the program at the recent meeting of the Van Natta community circle and there was, in addition, a religious reading by John Witcher, and a talk by Miss Margaret Malee, assistant home demonstration agent.

A social session, during which refreshments were served, followed.

Phil A. Bennett

Our Congressman Says—

APOLOGY. I have been referring to Dictator Stalin, of Communist Russia, as "Bloody Joe" in this column. This greatly embarrasses me in the light of the president's statement, at a recent press conference, that Comrade Stalin's constitution for Russia guarantees "freedom of religion and conscience similar to our own." The statement that Russia has what amounts to a bill of rights similar to ours would necessarily infer that the recent gory purges in which all of the intelligentsia, the leading generals, scientists, engineers writers and priests were "liquidated" by the thousands, cathedrals desecrated, bibles burned, and young people taught in school that there is no God, has all been in interest of religious liberty. This propaganda on behalf of Communism will, no doubt, convince sceptical American church goers and preachers that Communistic dictatorship is pervaded by sweetness, light, virtue; is 20th century democracy, and might not be bad to adopt here as well as fight for abroad. What a shame that the Heathen Hitler should attack such a great Christian democracy and threaten that great crusader for the four freedoms, Comrade Stalin! We should all join in now and make this a holy war to save the church. Holy did I say? I must have meant somesomething else because limberger cheese is holy too, and it stinks.

I wouldn't have believed it if I hadn't heard it with my own ears in my own head and then read it in United Press dispatches on September 29, 1941. High ranking administration spokesman and presidential appointee, Federal Reserve Board Chairman, Marriner S. Eccles, in testifying before the house banking committee in favor of the price control bill said, on the above date, "We may be forced to resort to the very system (dictatorship) we would like to see defeated, to insure success of the defense effort. It seems the democratic processes don't work too efficiently."

That salty old sailor from the Chicago drainage canal, Secretary of Navy Frank Knox, in his speech before the convention of the American bar association in Indianapolis the other day came out in favor of declaring war and sending an AEF. He said your government was bringing this about a step at a time. His exact words were: "We must join our force to that of Great Britain for 100 years We must give up the fatuous folly we will not fight unless invaded We shall proceed from one measure to another until we have taken adequate steps to bring defeat of Hitler." Coming from the president's secretary of navy, that must be official.

Thirteen billion dollars (13,000) is being given King George and Dictator Stalin, under the lend-lease program, to continue the fight for democracy Uncle Sam's entire income next year won't amount to that much. How much is 13 billion? It amounts to $99.85 for each man, woman and child in the United States. That does not include, of course, expenses for running our own government and paying for our own defense. Where are we going to get the money? The property-seizure bill soon to come to a vote in congress is a partial solution. The recommendation of Chairman Eccles that we have a dictatorship is another official suggestion. Raising many WPA clients to the status of income tax payers is part of the plan already accomplished by the new tax bill. Then, too, the 25c savings stamps will help. Which reminds me a good friend wrote the other day that in 1937 he bought a savings bond for $18.75 Today, however, because of the increasing cost of living, the $20 will only buy an all-wool coat and vest. He says, 'I lost my pants in the transaction."

A blood curdling show, demonstrating use of new army equipment and training was given at Ft. Belvoir, Virginia, October 2nd, for members of congress. It was a great demonstration of use of modern war equipment. As we listened to the roar of war machines we became more deter mined than ever to do all in our power to insist the service of our men be limited to defense. No man could view our army in these maneuvers without a feeling of pride Notwithstanding amazing waste of money in building and buying equipment, we now have a great army well-housed, well trained, and gradually becoming equipped. None of the men participating in these maneuvers had over twelve months' training, but all were physically fit and doubtless capable as any other troops on earth. Several army officers from Central and South America witnessed the demonstration as did the secretary of war, the vice president and sixteen United States generals.

Train Derails; Hits Station

LANSING, Mich., Oct. 8—(AP)—A speeding eastbound Grand Trunk & Western freight train left the rails and crashed into the main depot late Tuesday killing at least one person and injuring eight others.

A force of 100 state police and railroad employes immediately began a search of the station ruins for others who may have been trapped in the twisted debris.

About 15 persons were known to have been in the depot when several box cars which had buckled, hurtled into the west end of the building.

The dead:
James Smith, 17, Lansing.
The injured included:
Joseph H. Miller St. Louis, Mo.
George H. Sido, St. Louis, Mo.
William Rodgers. Moberly, Mo.
Herman Debrecht, Florissant, Mo.

Preparing For Farm-Home Week

COLUMBIA, Mo., October 9—(AP)—Twelve state farm associations will meet at the thirty-sixth annual Farm and Home Week program here October 28 to 30.

Dean M. F. Miller of the College of Agriculture announced the program which includes early morning religious exercises, morning programs covering such general topics as home and community, poultry, fruit and vegetable, livestock, general and dairy farming; afternoon short courses conducted by 11 departments within the college general meetings, late afternoon recreational activities, and evening programs with entertainment by various county community groups.

The afternoon short courses cover instruction by the economics, engineering, entomology, field crops, horticulture, animal husbandry, poultry, soils, veterinary science, 4-H and the combined sociology - home economics departments.

Speakers on the general programs include Chester C. Davis, St. Louis, president of the Federal Reserve Bank and commissioner in charge of the agricultural division of the National Defense Advisory Commission; Rep. Clarence Cannon of Elsberry, and Mrs. Lola Clark Pearson, woman's editor of the Oklahoma Farmer-Stockman.

Giving Relief To Flood Sufferers

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 8—(AP)— The American Red Cross reported today 600 families were seriously affected and 350 farmers suffered crop losses in the weekend floods in Lincoln, Pike and St. Charles counties.

Lost Creek, which swirled through the southern fourth of Elsberry, affected 125 families, the greatest number, but only 17 were in need of financial assistance. Hardest hit was Silex, a rural community of 480 population, which was swept by the Cuivre river.

All but a half dozen of 75 buildings in the town were flooded. Eighty families were affected, 30 of them needing relief. The receding river, now back in its banks, covered merchandise, furniture, bedding and personal belongings with thick mud, damaging much of the property beyond salvage.

With good Missouri neighborliness, surrounding towns pitched in to aid the Silex residents.

They provided food to replace water-damaged provisions. Hot meals were served in the school auditorium, which stands on high ground. Several families slept in the building.

Business men in Troy sent employes to assist in the rehabilitation. Two men from a lumber yard went to Silex to help a dealer there sort and clean his lumber stacks.

Father of Five Sons Killed Yesterday

BLYTHESVILLE, Ark., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Samuel Yate Lloyd, 29, father of five sons, was killed here today when his truck crashed into the side of a Cotton Belt freight train standing on a switch track. He was a driver for a truck transport company.

C. M. Van Dyne Installed As C. of C. Head

Ninety-nine Men And Women Attend Annual Banquet

Charles M. Van Dyne, vice president and manager of the American Disinfecting company, last night assumed the duties of the presidency of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce at a banquet at Hotel Bothwell, attended by 99 men and women He succeeds George H. Trader president of the Sedalia Democrat company, who has served the past two years.

Mr. Van Dyne's installation as president was unusual in the fact that he is the second son in the Van Dyne family to hold that office. The first was his brother, Clifford Van Dyne, now deceased, who was active in the organization for several years prior to his death.

Presented With Bouquet

Their mother, Mrs. John Rudd Van Dyne, who was present at the meeting, was very much surprised and pleased, when she was recognized by Charles O. Botz, a director, who stated that so far as he had been able to learn, her's was the only family where two brothers had held such an office. She was presented with a bouquet of red roses.

Bouquets were also presented by Mr. Botz to Mrs. Van Dyne, wife of the incoming president and to Mrs Trader, wife of the outgoing president. The latter is confined to her home with a broken ankle and the bouquet was presented to her daughter, Miss Janet Stanley, who occupied her place at the head table next to Mr. Trader.

Mr Trader presided over the opening of the meeting, presenting the Rev. A. W. Kokendoffer, pastor of the First Christian church, who asked the invocation. He then presented Ellsworth Green, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, who explained that the chamber operated under the direction of fifteen directors, with committees under each director, each looking after a different phase of the work

Committees Report

Mr Green called upon each director for a brief report of their year's work. The report of the director in charge of finances, I. H. Reed, was especially gratifying, because it showed that during the past year old debts had been paid, about $500 worth of new office equipment had been purchased and all current expenses had been paid. There remains in the treasury only the sum of $98, but with an increased membership that is hoped for, the organization plans to carry on without going into debt.

Another interesting report was that of Clint Davis, director in charge of the convention committee, who said there had been 38 district, state and regional conventions in Sedalia during the year, twenty-eight more than during the previous year. It represented approximately 10,000 visitors in the city.

Reports On Factory

D. S. Lamm gave a report on the proposed new shoe factory for Sedalia and the sale of stock which begins this morning. E. C. Martin, chairman of the drive, spoke briefly on the campaign, which starts with breakfast at Williams' cafe.

Mr Trader expressed appreciation for the support given him during the past year, complimented the secretary, Mr. Green, on his splendid work and handed the gavel to Mr. Van Dyne.

It is only by the cooperation of every citizen of Sedalia, the new president said, that the city can grow and progress, and he asked for that cooperation as president of the Chamber. He said he hoped to be able to have an industrial fund, a permanent one, which would provide the necessary money to go out and bring new industries to Sedalia.

In closing Mr. Van Dyne introduced his directors and announced his committees as follows:

Poets May Win Recognition

The National Thanksgiving Association is offering poets of the nation an opportunity to win recognition by submitting poems which reflect the patriotic and historic significance of Thanksgiving and the historical reasons why the flag should be displayed on that particular day.

Rules

1. Contest closes October 20, 1941.
2. Poems limited to 20 lines.
3. Duplicates should be kept as no poems can be returned.
4. Poems should be unsigned. Name, address of poet and title of poem in sealed envelope with title written on outside must accompany poem.
5. Each poet may enter three poems with a government postcard for acknowledgement if desired.
6. Any poetic form may be used, including free verse.
7. All entries must be sent to the state chairman.
8. Any poem placing for award or honorable mention will become the property of the National Thanksgiving Association. (NTA).

The state chairman to whom the poems must be sent is Mary Twitchel Jones, P. O. Box 385, Joplin, Mo.

The national prizes are: First, $25.00; second $15.00; third $10.00 and ten $5.00 awards. There will also be numerous state prizes.

The National Thanksgiving Association for the past 24 years has endeavored to promote greater interest in and appreciation of traditions and accomplishments of our country in giving thanks to God for the blessings of our land and the displaying of the flag. This program has been endorsed by national and civic organizations by educators and the governors of 45 states.

Shortage Of Auto Materials

WASHINGTON Oct. 7—(AP)—Automobile makers would be forbidden to use chromium, nickel plate and copper "brightwork" on new model cars after Dec. 1, under an order which awaited the signature today of OPM Director William S. Knudsen.

Civilian supply and priorities officials of OPM were represented as chagrined at the appearance of new cars of gleaming bumpers and shiny trim despite a request to motor makers last month that they refrain voluntarily from using strategic metals for fancy gadgets

Survivor Declares American Owned Ship W as Torpedoed

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 7.—(AP)—A 19-year-old survivor of the Panama flag tanker I. C. White declared today that "one and perhaps two" unidentified submarines torpedoed and sank the American - owned ship without warning in a midnight attack 600 miles off Brazil.

H. W. Ackerman of Charleston, S. C., said in the first interview with any of the 17 survivors brought here by the rescue ship Del Norte that the under-sea boat or boats fired only one torpedo.

Brazilian port authorities who boarded the Del Norte earlier said they were told the ship was shelled as she sank.

H. W. Ackerman, 19, of Charleston, S. C., one of the survivors, said the three men missing from the tanker's crew of 37 "almost surely drowned."

Sailed Under Panama Flag

In the first interview by any of the survivors, the young Charlestonian declared the tanker, which sailed under the flag of Panama, was attacked by "certainly one and perhaps two" submarines 600 miles off Brazil during the dark, moonless night of September 27-28.

"I was asleep when a torpedo hit square amidship about 12:15 a. m.," said Ackerman, who was employed in the officers mess. "So were most of the other members of the crew except a group of nine playing poker in the crew's mess.

"But we got topside in less than five minutes and had two boats overside with 17 men in each in less than ten minutes.

Jumped And Disappeared

"Three who reached the boat deck too late—a boatswain named Rankin, an able seaman and an oiler—jumped overboard and disappeared almost immediately.

"We stood off from the I. C. White for four hours until she went down by the stern, rowing around her, but did not find the missing three."

Ackerman said the lifeboats were launched hastily because of fear that the torpedo explosion would set fire to the oil laden vessel.

There was not the slightest warning of the torpedo attack, he declared.

Ackerman said the submarine diven immediately after the torpedo struck, and just before the I. C. White's lifeboats were launched.

Saw Two Lights

"We saw two lights clearly," he added, "and some of the crew members believe there were two submarines."

Ackerman said the lifeboat in which he and 16 others finally pulled away was at sea seven days.

"We were rowing steadily westward," he said. "Finally, on the night of October 3, when we were about ten miles off the Brizalian coast we picked up the lights of the Del Norte. We fired four rockets from a portable gun and she changed course, came to the rescue and took us aboard."

United States officials planned to take depositions of all survivors before cabling a summary to the state department at Washington.

D. B. Stein, Tulsa, the driver, who suffered chest injuries, said brakes failed as he approached a sharp turn on a detour.

Among those who escaped injury was Emma Heston, Lebanon, Mo.

Cochel Thinks AAA Program Needs Changes

Addresses National Catholic Rural Life Conference

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Oct. 7—(AP)—W. A. Cochel editor of the weekly Kansas City Star, told the National Catholic rural life conference today "A new farm program is needed" to replace the "regimentation" of the AAA.

In a debate with C. W. Sheppard of Columbia, chairman of the Missouri agricultural conservation commission, Cochel said:

"The AAA robs the farmer of his independence, regulates his business and tends to regimentation. It lends encouragement to inefficiency in farm operations and it encourages dependence upon the government rather than upon individual effort and greater effeciency in operation."

Suggests Rewards

The new program, he insisted, "should be based upon rewards for compliance, rather than penalties upon non-conformists. It should give encouragement to those who have consistently followed a system that results in soil conservation rather than to those who have followed a one crop system of soil depletion. It should make compliance entirely optional and be so simple that the cost of administration would be reduced to a minimum.

"It should, if possible, give greatest support to the small farm operator and favor those who live on the land."

Could Have Quotas

He suggested a plan in which "each farmer could be given a quota — to which benefit payments would be added. When he has marketed that amount he should present his records and receive his check which would make up the difference between market price and government guarantee. Any sales above his established quota should be on the open market without benefit."

Bishop Aloisius J. Muench of Fargo, N. D., was elected to succeed Bishop Vincent J. Ryan of Bismarck, N. D., as president of the rural life conference.

New Officers:

Other new officers: Rev. Patrick T. Quinlan, Hartford, Conn., Monsignor Leo J. Steck. St. Louis, and Miss Dorothy Willman, St. Louis, vice presidents; Frank Bruce, Milwaukee, recording secretary; and Rev. Louis N. Zirbes, North Lake, Wis., treasurer.

Next year's conference will be held in Peoria, Ill.

County Line Club Meeting

The County Line Homemakers met at the club house on October 2 with sixteen members and one visitor present.

A delicious dinner was served at noon with Mrs. Jessie Wear and Miss Iva Wear as hostesses and Mrs. Lewis Zumsteg and Mrs. Schupp assisting.

At the meeting in the afternoon rules in parliamentary law were reviewed by Mrs. Gus Wear.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: president, Mrs. Arthur Broderson; vice president, Mrs. R. J. Martin; secretary, Mrs. Pete Zumsteg; song and game leader, Mrs. Omar Howard; reporter, Mrs. Clarice Howlett; child development, Mrs Ernest Schupp; parliamentarian. Mrs. Betty Henderson; reading chairman, Miss Iva Wear.

Mrs. Howlett had charge of the program on Food. The club enjoyed a letter written by a former member, Mrs. Brooks Heck, who has moved to the state of Washington.

Expect Increase In WPA Wages

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8—(AP)—Howard O. Hunter, work projects administrator, said after conferring with President Roosevelt today that an increase in wages for the 1,000,000 persons now on WPA rolls would be announced in a few days.

He said the specific amount of the increase would be determined shortly and that it probably would take effect November 1.

Hunter said WPA workers now average about $60 a month, with many receiving $50 or less.

For More Power To Highway Patrol

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Kansas City police officials have appealed to Gov. Forrest C. Donnell to take whatever steps are necessary to allow the state highway patrol to continue general law enforcement activities.

The appeal was sent by Police Chief Harold Anderson and the police commissioners. They proposed the patrol be given enforcement powers equal those of county sheriffs.

Two Sons Born

Two boys were born at the Bothwell hospital yesterday, one to Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Brown, 1105 South Kentucky avenue, and one to Mr. and Mrs. Leo Carver of Valley Park, Mo.

She plans to return to Sedalia the last of the week.

Arnold Coming To Missouri

Thurman Arnold, assistant attorney general of the United States will be principal speaker at the thirteenth annual meeting of Consumers Cooperative Association in North Kansas City, Mo., the evening of October 16, it is announced by President Howard A. Cowden.

Arnold, author of "The Folklore of Capitalism" and "The Bottlenecks of Business," is in charge of that division of the Justice Department which has to do with enforcement of the Sherman and Clayton (anti-trust) Acts. His address will deal with various restraints on interstate commerce and perhaps the role of co-operatives in the present economy. He will be greeted in North Kansas City by a delegation of cooperators from Laramie, Wyo., his home town, where he served for a time as mayor.

Arnold's wife is the former Miss Frances Longan of Sedalia, a daughter of the late Judge and Mrs. George F. Longan.

Program Devoted To Rural Youth

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 8—(AP)—A plea to "break up concentrated land holdings" to create "a democratic pattern" of individual self reliance emerged today from a national Catholic rural life conference.

"The land serves the common good best when it is in small ownerships," said a conference resolution It proposed breaking up large holdings by "taxing them out of existence."

"The people must have access to natural resources and opportunities for some self sufficiency must be made," the conference declared "Higher and higher prices for less and less production, higher and higher wages for less and less work do not constitute economic riches. . . .

"False philosophies, unduly glorifying the state concentrating ownerships, herding people in cities, stripping them of ownership and independence, have caused the economic, social and spiritual breakdown of man. A giant war is sitting the stage for complete destruction."

The conference closed today with a program devoted to rural youth

Several Cases In Circuit Court

Cherry Trees Are Now In Bloom

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7—(AP)—Washington's famed cherry trees are blossoming again — and it's six months from April whichever way you look at it.

Unseasonal October weather, with temperatures in the 90s, has brought out hundreds of the delicate pink blossoms on trees lining the drive around Haines Point —springtime mecca for thousands of sightseers.

The heat wave, which has broken all October records for Washington, in contrast has seared and browned the tree leaves.

Prayed She Might Follow Husband In Death

BEAUMONT, Tex., Oct. 8—(AP)—Mrs. Sarah Lofton died by her husband's grave, her prayers answered.

Friends said the 70-year-old widow was unconsolable after her husband's death Sunday and prayed that she might die and be buried beside him immediately.

Funeral services will be held today as she wished.

Two Speakers At Booster Club Meeting

War And Plans For Shoe Factory Are Chief Topics

The Sedalia Booster club, in regular session at the Missouri Pacific shops during the noon hour Tuesday, with approximately 1,200 employes and a number of business men and Legionnaires attending, had one of its most successful meetings held for sometime. F. G. Rose, chief booster, presided and introduced the various speakers and entertainers.

After the transaction of regular club business Rose gave a brief report on the annual Chief Boosters' convention held in St. Louis recently, which he attended. He spoke also concerning the solicitation of business and used the old saying, " an old friend is the best friend after all," and applied this to the patrons of the Missouri Pacific railroad.

Ready To Serve

O. B. Poundstone, representing the American Legion, gave an interesting talk, mentioning war conditions at the present time and conditions during the last World war. He said: "We fought in a war that was to end all wars, but now another great war is on and when the statement was made recently, 'shoot on sight,' it was not a bluff and all nations of Europe know it. Even though we veterans who went through the last war are not able to go into the front lines in battle, we are still able to do our part at home. However, we are ready at any time to put on our uniforms and fight for our country just as we did in the last war."

Poundstone, in closing, urged all veterans who are now employed at the shops to do anything they may be called upon to do in the homeland and to notify the Chief Booster they are ready at all times. He declared: "We may get in this war even though we have no business in it, but the time to criticize our government is past."

Talks On Factory

D. S. Lamm, prominent Sedalia attorney, spoke relative to the campaign for the new shoe factory for Sedalia and urged their aid in making this campaign a success and stated: "Increased payrolls make a good town," but if you don't have the payrolls there will, literally speaking, "be grass growing in the streets" and mentioned two towns where this about took place in years gone by.

The proposition submitted before the Chamber of Commerce by the Sedco Shoe company is considered the best one offered in the last 15 years. The plan is, Lamm explained, for Sedalians to purchase $25,000 worth of five per cent cumulative preferred stock at $10.00 per share. He stated the company would employ 100 persons and have a payroll of $100,000.

"Sedalia will not get anything unless the people help themselves and strive for something which will help build up our schools, churches and our property," Lamm said.

Up To People

"We have everything to make a successful town and it is up to all of us to get behind this campaign and make it go over. We have one large industry, the Missouri Pacific shops, and the business people know what it means when the shops are not working the force as it is today.

"We want to give employment to our sons and daughters and those who are out of employment in our city," Lamm continued.

He further stated the Sedco company had entered an agreement with the Tober Saifer Shoe company which will purchase as much of their output of shoes as the Sedco company desires to sell at a net profit of ten cents per pair.

Heartily Agrees

G. T. Callender, superintendent of shops, closed the meeting by saying that, "I heartily agree with Mr. Lamm that increased payrolls make a good town. The payroll for the Missouri Pacific shops in Sedalia has an increase of $269,762.00 for the first nine months of 1941 over the same period in 1940, or an increase of 27.9 per cent."

Callender expressed his appreciation to the speakers for their talks, thanked the rest of the business men who attended the meeting and urged all employes to "thoroughly organize your work before doing it and put a guard against injuries."

The entertainment throughout the meeting was presented by members of the Missouri Pacific Buzz Sawyers, under the direction of P. R. Nichols. They gave several vocal and string numbers.

Snow In Western Colorado Yesterday

MONTROSE, Colo., Oct. 7—(AP)—Six inches of snow covered the Uncompahgre valley of western Colorado today.

A tree, overburdened with the snow fell and snapped power transmission lines leaving Montrose without light or power for four and a half hours.

Council Votes To Start Work On City Hall

Amendment To Present Utilities Ordinance Proposed

The city council, by a vote of seven to one, at the regular council meeting last night, decided to proceed with the construction of a new city hall and auditorium, for which bonds were voted some months ago. A. L. Pringle, of the third ward voted "no." The body also voted to send notices to bonding companies that bids for the city's bonds will be received at the next council meeting, which will be Monday night, October 20.

The matter was presented to the council by Emmett Sullivan, chairman of the building committee, who said that in his opinion the people had voted bonds for the building, want it built and that he has learned there is a surplus of WPA labor available at this time.

Questions Advisability

Pringle questioned the advisability of starting construction now, stating it might be hard to get material because of the large amount needed in defense work, and also that there will be much more labor available after the federal works progress setup has been discontinued.

Sullivan brought up another matter before the council, and introduced an amendment to the present ordinance governing public utilities. His amendment provided for the increase of the occupational tax paid by the Sedalia Water Company from $100 annually to $2,500, stating that amount is on a par with the $2,500 paid by the City Light and Traction Company, and the two and one-half per cent (approximately $2,500 or $2,600) paid by the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

He prefaced his introduction of the amendment by stating that the Sedalia Water Company had promised a reduction of rates July 1, which had not been given. He was of the opinion the reduction had not been granted, because the matter of purchase of the water company had been up for consideration.

No Action Taken

No action was taken on the amendment last night, but Mayor J. H. Bagby appointed a committee composed of Sullivan, E. H. McLaughlin and Dr. F. M. Fulkerson, to look into the matter of the hydrant rental reduction and also of the franchise under which the company is operated.

Mayor Bagby said, answering a question of one of the councilmen, that he understood the company is operating under a life franchise. Such a franchise is not possible, Fred F. Wesner, city counselor, said, explaining that under the laws of Missouri a franchise cannot be for a longer term than twenty years.

The mayor said that as a member of the Round Table Council he is frequently asked if the city wants to buy the water company, and that being only one member of the city council he could not answer for the remaining eight. Without exception the councilmen took the floor and said they favor owning the water company, most of them adding "providing the price is right." Pringle favors an appraisal of the properties and found fault with the last election. Dr. Fulkerson took the floor in reply stating they had employed a reliable firm of unbiased engineers, paid them $5,000 and had what he considered a fair appraisal made at that time.

Changed His Mind

McLaughlin said that he had opposed the purchase at the time of the last election, but since had changed his mind. There were rumors then, he continued, that the mains were old, but he had talked with Mr. Quigley, of Fort Worth, Texas, who is familiar with the Sedalia mains, and he compared them with cast iron pipes in France, which had held up for two hundred and fifty years.

At the request of H. L. Barman, of the police committee, an allowance was made for the purchase of a two-way radio system for the Sedalia police department, to cost between $1,800 and $2,000, also for the purchase of a motorcycle for the meter officer.

S. J. Timborious and Walter Pinkepank, as spokesmen for a committee from the American Legion, offered the services of the Legion members as police officers in any emergency. They mentioned particularly parades, football games and other events.

J. O. Jenkins, 915 East Eleventh street, asked the cooperation of the city in improving the sewerage system in southeast Sedalia. During the recent rains, he said, the sewerage backed up into many basements. The matter was referred to the sewer and sanitation committee.

Bernice Benedict, 206 South Engineer avenue, was granted a renewal of a license to sell 5 per cent beer.

Suit On Note

A suit on a note was filed in circuit court yesterday by Edgar Holland against Glenn W. Shaw and C. E. Shaw. The suit is for $165.36 alleged due on a note originally for $228.96.

Fred Wesner is attorney for the plaintiff.

Homecoming At Warsaw

R. B. Petts Is Elected Secretary For Next Year

The Benton County Half Century club met Saturday and Sunday, October 4 and 5, in the Community building in Warsaw, for its fourth annual homecoming celebration. Mrs. R. B. Petts was in charge of the registration, assisted by Mrs. G. S. Kirby and Misses Florence Hudson, Gladys Myers, Jo Ann Henderson, Berl Gregory, Alma Hirsch, Ruth Blackwell and Juanita Brocks.

Registration of members began Saturday at 2:00 p. m. Mrs. Nora Lay was chairman of the reception committee. A reception was held for members Saturday from 2 to 4 p. m., punch being served.

The Saturday night program began at 7:30 p.m., with the president, E. T. Robbins, of Warsaw presiding. Two vocal solos were rendered by Harry Bruton. An illustrated lecture and pictures of the Lake of the Ozark area were presented by Frank Lauder of Kansas City. Historical pictures of Benton county were shown and illustrated by R. B. Petts, after which dancing was enjoyed.

Sunday Services

Sunday morning at 10:45 there was an organ prelude, followed by memorial services for members of the club who had passed on the past year were conducted by Rev. Faust A. Mathews, of Springfield, Mo., pastor of the local Christian church. A duet by Rev. and Mrs. Mathews and a solo by Miss Mariam Freeman of Warsaw were enjoyed. Prayer was given by Rev. J. H. Wagner, pastor of the local Methodist church. Rev. Elmer Thomas, pastor of the Westport church in Kansas City, delivered the morning message on, "Land Marks, Old and New." The music was furnished by a choir composed of singers from the different churches of Benton county, with Miss Moremary McAlister in charge, and Mrs. Lloyd Parsons at the piano.

At the noon hour all assembled to the basement where long tables had been prepared for an old fashioned basket dinner. Hot coffee was served free of charge.

Afternoon Program

The afternoon program opened at 2 p.m. by the choir and audience singing, "God Bless America." A duet by Mrs. Morton Fraley and Mrs. Maggie Poague of near Windsor was greatly enjoyed. Recognition services were held by R. B. Petts of Warsaw. Among those recognized from a great distance were: J. W. Hawkins and S. R. Hawkins, brothers of Blaine, Wash. The former was present last year, but this was S. R. Hawkins' first visit back to the old home town in forty years. Mrs. Mamie Arnst, formerly, Miss Mamie McLaughlin, Long Beach, Calif., George Miller, California, Mrs. F. M. White, formerly, Miss Ida Hunter of Lincoln, Beaumont, Tex.

Many Awards Made

Awards were made as follows: Person coming the greatest distance, S. R. Hawkins, Blaine, Wash., one years subscription to the Benton County Guide. This was given to S. R. Hawkins because his brother got this prize a year ago. Person coming the farthest distance in Missouri, Mrs. M. M. Fritzgerald, Cape Girardeau, Mo., one year subscription to Benton County Guide. The oldest couple in audience, Mr and Mrs. J. A. Hunt of near Windsor, Mr. Hunt being eighty-five and Mrs. Hunt eighty-three, combined ages being 168 years. Harmony Dinner Next Month

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 7—(AP)—Missouri's young Democrats will sponsor a harmony banquet here early next month in a campaign to affect a "revitalized and harmonious" organization of the state's strife-torn Democratic party.

Hugh R. Williamson, young Democratic president, announced the banquet last night at the annual convention of the federated women's Democratic clubs of Missouri.

"To this meeting we want Democrats to come with the word 'harmony' in their hearts and on their lips," he urged.

"We realize that we have made mistakes in the past," he said, but added: "If only he who is without fault casts stones in this matter there will be mighty few stones cast."

Several demands for reorganization of the Democrats in Missouri have been raised since the collapse of last winter's contest of Republican Forrest C. Donnell's election for governor and the election of a Republican mayor in St. Louis.

Williamson said Edward J. Flynn Democratic national chairman and Joseph C. Carr national president of the young Democrats, will attend the November banquet, which will be followed by a series of harmony meetings, in each congressional district.

Child Lost In Forest Is Found

CONWAY, N. H., Oct. 7—(AP)—Five-year-old Pamela Hollindworth was found last night alive and well after wandering eight days and nights through mountain wilderness in bitter cold and driving rains, living only on brook water.

Her clothing—a tiny sunsuit—was tattered when CCC boys and forest rangers found her, smiling and unafraid, on a trail of the White Mountain National Forest.

A faint "Hi, Hi," attracted the searchers—just as they turned back to their camp at dusk, downhearted after another apparently futile day.

The voice led them to the little girl who, a twinkle in her eyes, said "I have been out in the rain and cold since Sunday."

"What's your name?" they asked.

"Pammy," she replied.

"You are in better shape than we are," grinned Bill Matson, one of those scouring the woods tirelessly since Pamela wandered from a family picnic a week ago Sunday.

Thus came to a happy end New England's greatest mass hunt and and veteran conservation officer Lem Baker commented:

"A lot of grownups heavily clothed couldn't lived more than a couple of nights through it—lack of fear saved her.

'War Paint' For Women Is As Necessary As Battleship Paint

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—(The Special News Service)—National defense officials have decreed that war paint for women is just as important as war paint for battleships.

"Civilian morale demands that the nation's women remain beautiful," one official says.

So, notwithstanding a threatened shortage of basic materials for cosmetics, decision has been made to go all-out for keeping American beauties beautiful.

The girls may have to put up with some changes in the packaging of their war paint. Plastics may be substituted for brass and other metal containers. But officials say the threatened shortage of lipstick, nail polish and other chemical agents for gilding the lilies has been stalemated, at least, if not overcome.

Cold Plain Facts

"It simply boiled down to cold plain facts," an executive explains.

"The facts are that you can not keep civilian morale high if the gals have to go around looking frowsy. That is common horsesense. The air transport companies recognized it long ago and required every air hostess to carry a spare pair of stockings.

"They knew that when a pretty girl gets a run in her stockings her morale takes a nose dive, and every passenger in the plane reacts to it.

"If the morale of the nation's women sinks, so does that of the men."

Nevertheless, while the nation works at the job of national defense, the American women may have to accustom themselves to some changes.

Beauty Shops Affected

For one thing, there is a definite shortage of aluminum. And the shortage will affect beauty parlors, which use aluminum coils in giving permanent waves. So, in place of the old-fashioned permanent, the American woman may be confronted with an era of wind-blown bobs.

An era of sun-tanned legs also may be foreshadowed in the silk shortage, which is another reality. Already the women's magazines are advertising "silk stockings poured on from a bottle."

There is a definite shortage of several raw materials used in manufacturing cosmetics, officials say. The shortage applies especially to the solvents, glycerine and alcohol.

These raw materials are used in making astringents, cold creams, facial packs, hair dyes, perfumes, and similar articles. The same solvents also are used for making explosives, nitro-glycerine, and other defense priorities.

Ethyl acetate, used in making nail polish, is another important solvent used for making explosives and other defense materials.

Substitute Being Developed

Substitutes are being developed as fast as possible and wherever possible. While one force is curtailing civilian supply of vital national defense necessities, other forces are striving to develop substitutes.

Between curtailment and substitution, certain shortages are bound to occur.

Nylon as a substitute for silk is being developed as rapidly as possible. And none of the materials used in making nylon is expected to become scarce, since nylon is a chemical combination of coal, air, and water, each of which is plentiful, for the time being at any rate.

The metal shortage is slowly pushing the slide fastener off the market but there are plenty of buttons.

Face powder, lip rouge, and mascara will continue available, though here, as elsewhere, substitutions may become necessary as the defense line tightens.

Lower 'Daredevil' From High Perch

SUNDANCE, Wyo., Oct. 7—(AP)—Bewhiskered and tired, but still cheerful, daredevil George Hopkins, 30, of San Antonio, Tex., was rescued last night from the Devil's Tower that had held him a prisoner for six days and six nights after he parachuted to its top on a $50 bet.

Eight skilled mountain climbers lowered the parachutist on a lacework of ropes and iron rings anchored in the sheer sides of the 1,280-foot volcanic spire.

They started the descent at 5:25 P. M. (CST) and set Hopkins on level ground at 9:20 P. M.

Parents Learn How Children Attend Classes

Followed Their Schedule At S-C Monday Night

An unusually large number of enthusiastic parents followed their child's schedule last night at the annual "Back to School" program of the Smith-Cotton Parent-Teacher Association. In keeping with the objects of parent-teacher associations this program is held each year in order "to bring into closer relation the home and the school that parents and teachers may cooperate more intelligently in the training of the child." Parents were greeted by the teachers who explained the various subjects and their relation to the needs of the student after graduation.

Band Played

The black and gold uniformed Smith-Cotton band under the direction of Ralph Guenther presented the following numbers: "The Star Spangled Banner," "Loyalty," "Street King March," and "The Marching Band". The twirling team of seven girls held the undivided attention of their audience as they twirled to the "Street King March."

T. H. Yount, president, expressed the desire that this meeting might be general get-acquainted meeting. He introduced all officers and chairmen of the association. Mrs. G. V. Jones, hospitality chairman and her committee extended a welcome to the parents as they entered the school and Mrs. Vivian Kindred was the program chairman.

House Wants One Thanksgiving

WASHINGTON, Oca. 7.—(AP)—A lot of people who got all tangled up in their turkeys said there oughta be a law about double Thanksgiving days. A lot of congressmen agreed.

Now, it's up to the senate to make it strictly unanimous.

Yesterday, the house passed a bill to make the last Thursday in November a legal holiday, to be known after 1941 as Thanksgiving day. Since 1939, the nation annually has been confronted with two turkey days, the traditional—or last-Thursday-in-November version—and the new model—or third-Thursday-in-November—established by President Roosevelt's proclamation.

This year, about two thirds of the states will follow the President and one third won't, duplicating last year's showing.

Such a situation "only made for confusion," the house judiciary committee reported to the house, and legislation was needed to pin down a single date. The President announced earlier this year that the country would revert to the traditional date in 1942.

La Monte Woman Dies After Fall

Found In Well By Clarence Beard, Farm Employe

Mrs. Nell Schlusing Dorrance, aged 58, wife of Arthur E. Dorrance, died at her farm home, about six miles southwest of La-Monte, Monday afternoon, three or four hours after her body had been taken from a well into which she had fallen. Death, according to the doctor called, was due to heart failure brought on by the shock.

Husband In Hospital

Mrs. Dorrance's husband is a patient in Research hospital, Kansas City, where he was taken a week ago and where he underwent an operation.

Clarence Beard, who is employed on the Dorrance farm, left the house at 8 o'clock in the morning and returned about 11 o'clock. He failed to find Mrs. Dorrance around the home, and called several times, but there was no reply. His attention was attracted to some boards that were disarranged on the concrete well platform, and investigating he found Mrs. Dorrance in the well, which is twenty feet deep and had seven feet of water.

Mrs. Dorrance never regained consciousness, and as there was no one on the place it was not known how she happened to be in the well, nor how long she had been there.

Physician Called

A physician from LaMonte was called, and every effort was made to save her life, but it was impossible.

She was born in Ionia December 23, 1882, a daughter of the late John and Catherine Schlusing. She was married October 2, 1907, to Mr. Dorrance, and they had two children, a son who died in infancy and a daughter, Mrs. Thomas P. Clarkson, of Kansas City. Surviving are one sister, Mrs. M. M. Ficken and two brothers, Edward and Henry Schlusing of Knob Noster.

Mrs. Dorrance was a member of the LaMonte Methodist church.

Quarter Million Have Pensions

More than a quarter of a million persons have already received benefits and more than $451,427,000 has been paid out under the Railroad Retirement Act, the Railroad Retirement Board announces. The quarter-millionth mark was reached on September 10 with the certification of an employee annuity to William A. Woolenschlager, of Waupaca, Wis., a retired Soo Line brakeman who was presented his first annuity check by Carlton Hayward, director of the Chicago region who went to Waupaca to give it to him personally.

Of the 249,999 persons who received a benefit award under the Railroad Retirement Act before Mr. Woolenschlager, 59.5 percent were employee annuitants, 19.4 percent pensioners who were transferred from the private pension rolls of the carriers, 3.0 percent survivor and death benefit annuitants and 18.1 percent lump-sum death beneficiaries. The latter are entitled to 4 percent of the total creditable compensation after January 1, 1937 of a deceased employee under the act. The board began payment of benefits in July, 1936.

Woman Doctor Gives Advice To Women

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 7—(AP)—Dr. Sara M. Jordan of Boston, in a speech before the Kansas City Southwest Clinical society, had this bit of advice for her sex:

"Don't be a food faddist, and forget the laxitives."

Too many women, she added, eat unwisely and regard as too simple the best medical advice on constipation.

"Nature is seldom wrong," she reminded the group. "The animal that is 'off its feed' goes off and lies down, keeps quiet, rests."

Aid Hundreds Left Homeless By Tornado

Block Off Stricken Areas; Death Toll Still At Three

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 7—(AP)—Relief agencies worked tonight to aid hundreds of families left homeless by a tornado which swept through the eastern edge of Kansas City and suburban communities late yesterday, killing three persons and injuring 135 others.

All of the stricken areas were blocked off by police to prevent looting as the job of clearing wreckage of homes, industries and business buildings went ahead under direction of the Red Cross.

City manager L. P. Cookingham estimated the number of damaged houses at 150. Twelve persons still were in hospitals.

John D. Neal, manager of the Kansas City office of the Red Cross, said a survey he made disclosed at least 65 homes had been completely destroyed.

The tornado dipped about 5 P. M. yesterday, rose and skipped areas and dropped again. It first touched the ground near Forty-third street and Kennsington Avenue, moved northeast through Fairmount and several smaller communities before spending its fury in Sugar Creek, nearly 10 miles from where it started.

Only the foundation remained of the home where Mrs. Dorothy Lucas, 36, and her 18-months-old daughter, Diana, were crushed to death and their bodies blown 500 feet.

Mrs. Ella Perkins, 51, was killed in the wreckage of a friend's home.

Partition Suit Is Filed Here

Asking a fair division of land willed them by Lydia Ann Quint, who died August 18, 1941, a partition suit was filed in circuit court Wednesday by Harry and Herman H. Quint against William H., John P., James E., Homer A., and Fenton R. Quint, Carrie Brownfield, Maud E. Huckleby and Rosa A. Edmonson.

The plaintiffs state that the late Lydia Quint owned four-fifths interest in Sedalia property, and that Defendant Rosa Edmonson owns one-fifth interest in the property The deceased left her property to the plaintiffs and defendants as sole heirs, granting them each one-ninth of the property. The plaintiffs allege that James Quint is a non-resident of Missouri, and has concealed himself in order that the process of law cannot be served upon him.

The estate is being administered in the probate court of Cooper county, in Boonville. In addition to a division of land according to respective interests, since a partition cannot be made without prejudice to the owners, the plaintiffs also ask an allowance to sell the land and for the proceeds to be divided, if it is so agreed

Luman L. Spry is attorney for the plaintiffs.

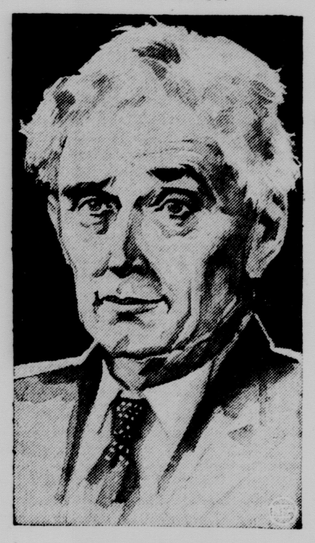
L. D. Brandies, Liberal Jurist Dies Sunday

Personal Message Sent To His Family By The President

The former associate justice, long a sufferer from a heart ailment, died shortly after 7 o'clock last night. It was heart trouble which prompted his retirement from the supreme court on February 13, 1939, and a severe attack at his home here Wednesday led to his death. He was 84.



Louis D. Brandeis

The family announced that the funeral, for which arrangements were incomplete, would be strictly private and requested that no flowers be sent. Memorial services would be held later, the announcement said.

Appointed to the tribunal by President Wilson in 1916, he was the first member of the Jewish race to receive that honor. There have been two others since—the late Benjamin N. Cardozo and Felix Frankfurter.

From the start of his supreme court service in 1916 Brandeis found a sympathtic soul in his old friend Oliver Wendell Holmes and he frequently joined with "the great dissenter" in minority opinions. When Holmes retired, Brandeis became the oldest justice.

Retired In 1939

The jurist retired from the bench on February 13, 1939 at the age of 82. His departure came suddenly and dramatically.

He had participated in the court's activity that day, but upon adjournment sent a letter to President Roosevelt announcing his retirement, effective at once.

This action was prompted by recent ill health and by age. He had sat on the bench for only a week after a month's absence because of grippe and a heart disease.

Since his retirement, he has occupied his time talking with friends, writing letters, reading, and advancing the cause of the Zionist movement, which seeks to establish a Jewish homeland in Palestine.

Born in Louisville, Ky.

Justice Brandeis was born in Louisville, Ky., November 13, 1856, the son of Adolf and Frederika (Dembitz) Brandeis. His father, a native of Prague, now capital of Czecho-Slovakia, came to the United States in 1848 and built up a successful grain business.

The son went through the Louisville schools, and then studied in the Realschule of Dresden, Saxony. He entered the law school of Harvard in 1875, when Longfellow, Lowell, Dr. Holmes and Ralph Waldo Emerson still were on the college faculty, was graduated LL. B. in 1877, took a year of post-graduate work, practiced in St. Louis in 1878 and then moved to Boston.

On March 23, 1891, he married Alice Goldmark of New York. Two daughters were born to them.

The Brandeis family made public the following message from President Roosevelt to Mrs. Brandeis:

"My heart goes out to you and yours in the loss of a loved—and loving husband and father, who was my faithful friend through the long years.

"Mrs. Roosevelt joins me in this assurance of deepest sympathy.

"The whole nation will bow in reverence to the memory of one whose life in the law, both as advocate and judge, was guided by the finest attributes of mind and heart and soul.

"In his passing American jurisprudence has lost one whose years, whose wisdom and whose broad spirit of humanism made him a tower of strength."

Bound Over To Criminal Court

William L. Drury, of Lenexa, Kas., waived his preliminary hearing before Judge C. W. Bente, sitting as ex-officio justice of the peace, yesterday and was bound over to the action of the October term of criminal court.

Drury was arrested Saturday evening by the police on Twentieth street and Lamine avenue where he had run his car up over a lawn.

Program Given At PTA Meeting

The Sttriped College Parent-Teacher Association met at the school, Friday, October 3. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. S. G. Monsees. Everyone joined in singing "America." The minutes of the last meeting and the treasurer's report were given by the secretary treasurer, Mrs. Andrew Smith. Mrs. Harvey Fisher announced plans for a study class to be started this month. A report concerning the finances and operation of the school lunch room was given by Miss Gladys Ferguson.

After the business meeting the following program was presented:

"What P. T. A. Membership Means" an article from the Missouri Parent-Teacher bulletin read by Mrs. C. Michaelis.

Piano solo, "The Black Hawk Waltz"—Billy Monsees.

Violin solo, "An Irish Medley"—Dixie June Thomas, accompanied by Mary Sue Monsees.

Piano solo, "Polly"—Mary Sue Monsees.

B. B. Ihrig, superintendent of Smithton school, then introduced the members of the brass quartet from Smithton, Lilburn Lujin, Richard Luce, Donald Mahnken, Hulen Leutgen and Wanda Lee Pace, piano accompanist, two played the following numbers: "The Prayer Perfect," "Out of the Dusk to You," and "Neapolitan Nights."

Mr. Ihrig then gave an interesting and instructive address on "Conservation of Birds." He demonstrated with records on the victrola how we may distinguish the different bird calls.

Religious Freedom Is A Bulwark

Rabbi States Americans Owe Debt To Newspapers

By Rabbi Edward L. Israel

There are unfortunitely few countries still left in the world where the observance of a National Newspaper Week could evoke the spontantous and widespread popular enthusiasm which such an occasion is bound to elicit in the United States of America. No American can fail to realize how intimately his own personal freedom is bound up with the freedom of the press, nor how great a debt of gratitude he owes the remarkabue institution of the American newspaper.

Revaluating

All of us at one time or another in the past have damned this or that paper or the press as a whole with either bitter invective or faint praise. Yet now in a shattering world crisis, we begin to see how even our journalistic worst was so much better than the best almost everywhere else in the world; and in our attitude toward the newspaper we find ourselves reevaluating many a prejudice which in more carefree days we allowed to run rampant. We see how truly blessed we have been in our American press and how much the preservation of its dignity and freedom involves our lives as free men and women.

Religion Suffers Persecution

Particularly do we of the religious leadership of America feel this sense of appreciation and gratitude. The sad days of the present world have shown us that when tyranny suppresses freedom, it is religion which inevitably suffers the most dire persecution. And we have learned that not any one religion but all concepts of God's overlordship meet the same oppresive crulty at the hands of those who would enslave mankind. Catholic, Protestant and Jew—a pastor Niemoeller alongside his priestly or rabbinical fellow-clergyman—suffer the martyrdom of the concentration camp.

Can Worship In Freedom

This intensified appreciation of our common challenge in the face of tyranny has worked in both directions. Religion is more than ever conscious of the fact that a free press represents the indispensable environment in which man can seek and worship God in freedom.

On the other hand, the press itself has come to recognize more keenly than ever that free religious institutions constitute democracy's strongest bulwark, and thus the defender of that way of life in which alone it is possible for a truly free press to exist. So it is that there has been a constantly increasing attention to religion and religious life by the newspapers of America.

National Newspaper Week signifies these profound facts in our American life today. Its observance should reach into every church and synagogue, school and home.

Uses Boat In Trip To Town

John Shy, who resides on a farm north of Otterville and near Clifton City, became ill Sunday at his home, and when it was found necessary to be brought to the Bothwell hospital here, he made part of the trip by boat, because of the high water.

He was taken by truck to a boat, then about half a mile by boat, where Gillespie's ambulance met him and he was brought to Sedalia.

An operation for appendicitis was performed Sunday evening, and this afternoon Mr. Shy is getting along nicely.

Bound Over To Criminal Court

Donald Fields, arrested last July, yesterday was charged with attempting to pass a forged check, and appearing before Judge C. W Bente, sitting as ex-officio justice of the peace, waived his preliminary hearing and was bound over to the action of the October term of criminal court.

Charges of forgery were dismissed in circuit court yesterday upon the recommendation of and the second charge was filed.

He will be taken before Judge Dimmitt Hoffman in criminal court this week.

Asks $5,000 In A Damage Suit

A damage suit for $5,000 was filed in the circuit court Saturday afternoon by Katharyn Rosencrans against Julian H. Bagby, doing business as The Pepsi-Cola Bottling company.

The plaintiff states in her petition that on August 11, 1941, about 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon, she purchased two cartons of Pepsi-Cola at the A. & P. store on Osage between Second and Third streets. She was carrying one in each hand, the petition states, when a bottle fell from one, onto the concrete floor, broke, and the glass cut her leg.

Her injuries were so severe, she alleges, that she asks damages in the amount stated.

Frank W. Hayes is attorney for the plaintiff.

Alleges Injuries In Suit Against The City

Six Motorists Give Up Permit

Pleading Guilty In Court, They Can't Drive For A Year

Six persons charged with driving motor vehicles while intoxicated appeared in criminal court this morning, with defendants in all cases pleading guilty and were fined $50 and costs, by Judge Dimmitt Hoffman, upon the recommendation of Prosecuting Attorney Job Harned. Several other cases ranging from statutory charges, burglary and larceny to forgery were also taken up and either disposed of, or the case set for trial.

Woodrow Summers, Thomas Rothgeb, John Lewis Darnell, Earl Martin, James Walton, and Ward Glenn, all pleaded guilty to driving motor vehicles while intoxicated. They were fined $50 each and costs and their drivers licenses were suspended for one year.

Dennie Anderson, Negro, appeared in court and when his attorney failed to appear he requested the case be set for late this afternoon.

Jimmie I. Riley, Herman Hall, Emery Herrick and Harry Starkey, charged with keeping a gambling house, appeared with their attorney, and pleaded not guilty. Their case was set for trial on October 21.

Sentenced To Penitentiary

James B. Greer, charged with burglary and larceny of the Deal Market, pleaded guilty on both charges and he was sentenced to two years on each charge. The sentences are to run consecutively.

Leo "Lasses" Williams, colored, charged with burglary and larceny of the Middleton Storage Co., pleaded guilty and was sentenced to two years on each count. The sentences will run consecutively.

James Paige alias Bill Paige charged with a statutory offense, pleaded not guilty through his attorney and the case was set for trial on October 25.

Frank Topas charged with robbery (two charges) pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for October 16 and 17.

George Gillum, colored, charged with carrying concealed weapons, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to ninety days in the county jail. He was given credit for time spent in jail since August 18.

Fred Berry, colored, charged with larceny, pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for October 14.

Charles Tieman, charged with forgery, pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for October 24.

Case Continued

Tom Craig, charged with carrying concealed weapons, pleaded guilty and when questioned by the court the case was set over until the defendant could converse with an attorney appointed by the court. It will be brought up on Thursday, October 9.

Kenneth Francis Vincent, attempting to pass and utter a forged check, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to six months in the county jail. He was given credit for time served since July 18.

Donald Field, alias Roy Tracy, charged with forgery, was dismissed as to that charge and new charges of attempting to pass a forged check will be filed in circuit court this afternoon. The case will be called later in the term.

Social Security Card Is Not Permit

A social security card is not a child labor work permit, according to Karl R. Hunzeker, manager of the Sedalia, Missouri, Social Security Board field office. Thousands of grade and high school students who have secured social security account number cards should know this. Employers of these young wage earners should not assume that the possession of a social security card and number by a child wage earner is evidence that the child and the employer have complied with the child labor laws.

"The possession of a social security account number only indicates that the child has applied for and has been issued a social security account number. It does not indicate the child is employed or eligible for employment," stated Mr. Hunzeker.

Birth of a Son

Norris Palmer Tells Rotarians Of Office Work

The Sedalia Rotary club held its regular noonday meeting yesterday at the Bothwell hotel with Dr. Roy M. Keller, president, presiding. W. Norris Palmer, manager of the Employment Service office in Sedalia, was the principal speaker.

Mr. Palmer was introduced by John McMullan, program chairman, and in part Mr. Palmer said:

"Using experience gained from the labor problems brought out in World War I, the employment services of the nation have more easily expanded to take care of the sudden and tremendous demand put upon industry for workers.

By a system involving clearance of information concerning available workers and jobs, the Employment Service is able to fairly accurately keep industry supplied with available labor. Short of that, the Employment Service has the responsibility of recommending to the proper authorities various training programs for training inexperienced workers to meet current and future demands for skilled workers.

"Since the Employment Service has been designated by the OPM as the official employment agency for defense industries, wholehearted co-operation has been received from all employers."

The first of the inter-city meetings will be held Monday night, October 13 at the Montserrat Recreational area, at which time the Warrensburg and Sedalia clubs will act as host to the four-city meeting. Rotaryanns will also attend the meeting.

Nolan Bricken, chairman in charge announced the speaker would be Rotarian George Hunt of Kansas City.

Guy Peabody, chairman of membership, introduced the following new members: W. Norris Palmer, Howard Watterson, J. Fred King, Ernest W. Baker, Ralph Guenther, George Lockett, and Fred S. Stafford.

Careless Smoking Causes Many Fires

Careless smoking continues to be the most frequent cause of fire, according to Fire Chief John Lueck. This condition exists here in Sedalia as well as in all other parts of the United States, he declares.

"For years, the most frequent cause of fire—and an avoidable cause it is, too—has been careless smoking," the Chief said today. "We had fires here last year that were directly traceable to smoking, and throughout the nation, according to the National Fire Protection Association, there were about 87,000 similar fires, resulting in damage of about $14,000,000. "Second on the list are fires caused by sparks on roofs. In third position are fires resulting from defective or overheated chimneys and flues. The fourth major fire cause is defective electrical wiring and equipment. Spontaneous ignition fires, while only one-third as frequent as flue and chimney fires, caused nearly as much damage.

"It is important to consider these facts now for this is Fire Prevention Week. Practically all fires resulting from these five causes can be prevented. Such fires must be prevented if we are to conserve our resources for the national defense program," he concluded.

C. A. Wisdom Is Again Chairman

Charles A. Wisdom, of Green Ridge, has been reappointed chairman of the Pettis County Social Security Commission. Other members of the commission are, Chas. O. Botz, B. F. Parker of LaMonte, and Hugo Sparn. Miss Roseanne Dugan is county director and secretary of the commission.

Mr Wisdom's appointment is for a term of four years.
